Sasyk 'threat' gets Ma Bell to act on use of phone poles

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

"What's good for the goose is good for the gander." Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk told the Press-Record in explaining his unusual demand last week that Illinois Bell obtain a permit from city hall before doing any heavy work in the city.

Asked if his motive was to "put pressure on the telephone company" to get it off dead center on the issue of giving the city permission to string cables on telephone poles for the alarm system, Sasyk responded, "That's exactly what I've done."

It was reported that Sasyk spotted a telephone company installer in City Hall late last week and told him he could not work in the city until he obtained a permit for the work and was accompanied by a city "engineer." The installer reported it to his supervisor and the situation was immediately relayed to Springfield and, eventually, Chicago, the Press-Record has learned.

Lester Herrin, manager of installation and maintenance for Granite City and East St. Louis, was reluctant to discuss the situation Monday, other than to say, "There was a question about it at the end of last week, but I think it is resolved."

"The city didn't stand firm on what it was requesting. What ever his (Sasyk's) thinking was, it was changed after talking with our people," Herrin stated.

Sasyk said his thinking changed only when the phone company resumed discussions on granting the city permission to string cable for the citywide alarm system on telephone poles. Illinois Power Co. has already granted such permission.

Sasyk contended that some of the telephone company's demands were too strict, including expensive insurance requirements to protect against a lawsuit in the event of an injury or extensive property damage from a pole being struck.

"We wanted to do the same with them we did with Illinois Power. There were no ridiculous agreements. It says simply that we will be responsible for any wrong. It is already in our franchise we can use their poles. It says nothing about insurance," the mayor commented.

He contends he had every right to forbid the telephone company permission to do major work in Madison without a permit. "All are supposed to get a permit for any construction. They do a lot of tearing up. I could show you things that are unbelievable," he said.

He said the telephone company has the right to have an engineer present when the city works on telephone company property, so he felt it was fair to order them to have a city engineer present when they work on city property, although that was not the intent of his order.

The cause for the rush? "They have been messing around a long time. They are going to delay this until there is snow on the ground and we can't work."

"They're holding us up and we're ready to go," Sasyk concluded.

Prosecution rests in Zevallos kidnap trial

By PATHAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

In emotional testimony lasting one hour and 10 minutes yesterday, Rosalie Jean Zevallos described the events which took place while she and her husband, Dr. Hector Zevallos, were held captive from Aug. 12 to Aug. 20 by the "Army of God," an anti-abortion group.

Mrs. Zevallos took the stand in U.S. District Judge William Beatty's courtroom in Alton as the last witness for the prosecution, telling of the fear she felt throughout the ordeal and identifying defendant Don Benny Anderson as one of her captors.

Mrs. Zevallos' voice cracked as she described how three men were invited into her home by Dr. Zevallos, who thought that they were interested in buying land that the doctor had for sale.

Mrs. Zevallos stated that she was in an upstairs bedroom when the men entered the home and that she went into the downstairs breakfast area, where she saw three men and her husband standing around the table. After inviting them to "make themselves comfortable," she excused herself to continue her work upstairs. Some time later, Mrs. Zevallos testified, she heard the men and Dr. Zevallos leave, assuming that they were going to look at the property.

Mrs. Zevallos seemed to choke slightly as she stated that she then went downstairs, made a bowl of popcorn and settled in the downstairs family room. "I had this bowl of popcorn there and was just going to enjoy the evening," she said.

When one of the younger men burst into the room and came at her with a gun, Mrs. Zevallos testified that she fainted for a short time and, when she came to, the man said, "I am not going to rape you, I'm going to tie you up."

Mrs. Zevallos said that the man immediately blindfolded and gagged her and secured her hands in front of her with handcuffs. He then asked her several times if there was any money in the house and Mrs. Zevallos responded that she had approximately $200 in her wallet upstairs. She testified that he led her upstairs, where she heard him shuffling papers, presumably going through her wallet.

At this time, Mrs. Zevallos, a former Granite Cityan, testified that she was asking about Dr. Zevallos, crying as she said she asked him, "Where is Hector? How is Hector? Is he OK? Is Hector OK?" She stated that by this time, she heard two voices as they told her he was outside and that he was fine.

She then was carried outside, where they told her she was to be tied to a tree and then released later. The witness again cried as she explained that she called out to Dr. Zevallos, "Hector, are you there? Are you OK?" to which he answered, "Yes, Jean, I'm alright. Are you alright?" Mrs. Zevallos responded, "Yes, for sure, Hector, I'm alright."

Mrs. Zevallos then testified that they were taken to a car, where they heard a

Chrysler has good news

The Tri-City Regional Port District and the Chrysler Corporation were notified by U.S. Senator John Danforth's office that the Foreign Trade Zone 31a Subzone had been approved for the Chrysler assembly plant at Fenton, Mo.

"This is the normal procedure that the U.S. senator representing the district where the zone or subzone is authorized is notified first. The Port District expects to receive official notification within the next few days. At that time, we will meet with Chrysler and the St. Louis Customs Office to set this operation in motion," said Carl Rant, general manager of the Tri-City Regional Port District.

The port district board has pursued the subzone because it will enable motors and parts imported by Chrysler from foreign countries to remain in the plant, duty-free, until the automobiles are assembled. At the end of the assembly line, Chrysler pays the import duties on the foreign parts in each vehicle.

In addition to imported parts, there are more than $300 million worth of parts that are manufactured in both Illinois and Missouri which are sent to this plant each year. There are more than 2,400 workers employed at the Fenton plant and many are from the Quad-City area. It was announced this month that the Fenton plant will expand its production and additional people will be employed.

"The Port District feels that the Subzone designated is very important to our area and the port is proud to be able to play a part in keeping this industry competitive," Rant concluded.

Approval of the subzone may be only the first good news from Chrysler this week. A news conference was to be held this morning at which Missouri Governor Christopher Bond and Gerald Greenwood, vice chairman of Chrysler Corp., were expected to announce the reopening of Assembly Plant Number Two, the old truck assembly plant.

A Chrysler spokesman said he would not discuss details prior to the official announcement, but indicated that the announcement could mean quite a few jobs in the area.

City appropriates funds for resurfacing Madison Avenue

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

A bit surprised, but grateful, Granite City aldermen were informed Tuesday night that federal funding will be available for the resurfacing of Madison Avenue. The project has been tentatively set for the spring of 1984.

Plans call for the work to be done from the 20th Street intersection to Nameoki Road. Madison already has announced a project to resurface Madison Avenue from Second Street in Madison to 20th Street in Granite City. That project will be a joint venture between Madison and the state.

The council approved a resolution appropriating $105,000 of its future Motor Fuel Tax revenues as the city's share of the estimated $400,000 project. The federal government will pay for 70 percent of the project when the final cost is established.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer explained the resurfacing of Madison Avenue will be similar to the treatment of Nameoki Road last summer. The existing surface will be scraped off and replaced. Brewer hopes to use the discarded road material as fill for street repairs throughout the city.

The Madison Avenue project is one of two projects that Mayor Paul Schuler has suggested be given priority for an expected annual disbursement from a federal aid program to urban areas. The second project is the expansion of Pontoon Road from two to three lanes from Nameoki to Maryville roads.

If approved, the Pontoon Road project would be undertaken in 1985. The third lane would be used as a left turn lane only to assist the flow of traffic and stop traffic congestion there.

Although aldermen were pleased with the Madison Avenue plans, some were not as happy about their lack of input in selecting the project. Aldermen Jake Varadian, Fifth Ward, and Fred "Pat" Schuman, Second Ward, were both upset the council had not received notification of the project before being asked to approve the funding resolution Tuesday night.

"Why isn't the council informed of things in advance, to decide what roads to repair?" Varadian asked Brewer. "I think this is unfair."

According to Brewer, the selection was done by the mayor and not the city engineering department. The mayor was not present at the council meeting. Brewer did say the type of projects eligible for the funds is restricted by federal regulations.

Reese Construction Co., Cahokia, was the low bidder at $315,126 on the 1.6 miles of resurfacing that will be sponsored by Madison.

Probation is given in cocaine death

James R. Parmley, 29, of 2500 Delmar Ave. has been sentenced to 30 months of probation for involuntary manslaughter in the Jan. 26, 1982, death of his wife, Sandra.

She was 26 years old when she succumbed to cocaine overdose. Her death was hidden from public knowledge for weeks and almost did not become generally known. A funeral home cooperated with an unnamed relative in blocking usual announcements that the death had occurred.

A second count of involuntary manslaughter against Parmley was dismissed this month by Circuit Judge Paul J. O'Neill, who sentenced him to four-year probation and a $5,000 fine for possession of a controlled substance.

The Granite Cityan was indicted three times on April 2 and submitted pleas on Jan. 3, 1983.

The involuntary manslaughter charges allege he injected the drug into his wife and then failed to seek prompt medical aid for her.

It was contended he injected cocaine into Mrs. Parmley twice during a party at their home after a woman guest already had given her one injection.

The woman who gave the first injection was granted immunity from prosecution in return for testimony.

She allegedly gave Mrs. Parmley one injection of cocaine earlier in the party and said Parmley then gave his wife two more injections between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m. Court documents alleged he knew such injections could cause serious harm.

He was charged with allowing his wife to "suffer from an overdose of drugs for a period of several hours, and failing to give or summon help until her physical condition was so deteriorated that she became comatose."

When Parmley returned home from

Close Corn Sweeteners

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Archer Daniels Midland Co. (ADM) will permanently close its Corn Sweeteners Inc. caramel coloring processing facility at the west end of the 19th Street Overpass tomorrow, leaving 20 people out of work.

The decision to close the plant, which manufactures caramel coloring used in foods, was made in December because "the market just does not justify that plant," said Richard Burket, vice president at ADM headquarters in Decatur.

In addition to slow growth in the food market, Burket said, there also "has been some erosion in the marketplace" and ADM could not "justify putting more money into that plant."

Employees were notified of the closing "early this month or late December," he added.

It had been rumored that Corn Sweeteners would close because it could not meet the city's sewage treatment requirements for discharging caramel coloring and its byproducts into the sewer system.

Plant said "that's not true. The pre-treatment program had not progressed that far with that company to have been an issue."

Pre-treatment and assessment at ADM had not begun and McMillan said there is no specific regulation dealing with caramel coloring. Had a study been done at ADM by treatment plant officials, any permits issued later

Boosters win scheduling conflict at Venice center

By PAT HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

After a short special meeting of the Venice Park Board last week, board officials voted to allow a Valentine dance on Feb. 12 to be hosted by the Madison Booster Club in the Venice Recreation Center.

When Recreation Director Charles Collins tried to schedule a dance at the same date, board members could not agree during the regular meeting who should use the facility. While Collins argued that Venice recreation officials should have priority, he admitted that the Booster club should be granted the use of the facility in this case, because they had put in a request on Dec. 16, nearly a month before his request.

Board Member Barbara Marrell suggested that further conflicts could be avoided if Collins presents a calendar of events to Odella Shackelford, the recreation scheduling officer, up to a year in advance.

Plans were made to outline specific scheduling procedures by official means in an upcoming board meeting.

Board officials discussed plans for a Fourth of July carnival, which would include three small rides and two large rides at the cost of $2,500, but they could not get a motion on the table to either table the discussion or approve the project.

According to Board Member Earl Hogan, the project must be approved by the next regular meeting or will have to be forgotten. "If we don't let the carnival officials know after the next meeting, we won't have time to set up a carnival with them," Hogan said.

ALLEGED DUI AFTER SIDESWIPING MISHAP

Following a side-by-side accident involving southbound vehicles on Nantuxi Road at Garfield Avenue this week, one driver, Charles W. Hawk, 22, of 2310 S. Edwards St., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Tina L. Kelley, 18, of 104 Central Ave., driver of the second auto, drove to Granite City police headquarters to report the accident, while Hawk called the station with his report.

An officer interviewed Hawk and alleged the man smelled of alcohol. Hawk requested a breathalyzer test, which was administered by Madison Police Officer William Weidner. Conflicting reports about lane usage were offered by the motorists.

Classes in speed reading, secretarial work offered

Non-credit classes teaching sign language, speed reading and secretarial skills will be taught this winter through the continuing education program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The basics of sign language will be taught seven consecutive weeks on Monday and Wednesday evenings, Feb. 7 to March 16. In addition to learning sign language, students will be introduced to the deaf world, through deaf awareness discussions and activities.

JAIL TERM FOR MAN CAPTURED IN CHASE

Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand last week sentenced Donald R. Harris, 28, of 3403 Kirkpatrick Homes to 14 days in the Madison County jail and assessed a fine of $450.

He had pleaded guilty to property damage and resisting arrest charges filed the previous night near his apartment after a foot chase by police; a patrol car's radio antenna was broken during the chase.

Garris was being sought at the time on past warrants alleging battery, reckless driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The cost is $45.

A course on speed reading is being offered 10 consecutive Mondays, now through March 14 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. By the end of the course, students should be able to at least triple their reading speed. Cost is $40.

For those considering a secretarial career, the improving secretarial skills course will teach typing, machine transcription, letter styles and memoranda and report writing. The class will be taught nine consecutive Thursdays, Jan. 20 to March 10, from 6 to 9 p.m. Cost is $45.

Preregistration is recommended. For more information about the classes or registration procedures, interested persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 1-692-3210.

GUNS AND TV TAKEN

The home of Linda Jordan, 2224 Edwards St., was looted last week of a $90 clock-radio, $65 in quarters, a portable TV set, a 12 gauge shotgun, two .22-caliber rifles, a $129 video game and 12,330 game cartridges. The burglar broke glass in a door.

Further information. Children will be welcome at the orientation.

Venice officers were called to 84 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, during the weekend and reported finding Stanley Carter, 29, lying on the living room floor in a semi-conscious state, bleeding from a head wound.

Penny Hibbler, also a Venice resident, was seated beside the man on the floor and also was bleeding from the head.

Both the man and woman appeared incoherent, officers said, but they learned the two were hurt in an incident occurring at another apartment in the housing complex.

An ambulance was summoned and Miss Hibbler and Carter were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and were admitted, it was learned.

Shortly afterward, Venice officers picked up a 16-year-old girl, who allegedly had been involved in the incident in which the man and woman were injured. The girl was taken to the medical center for treatment of a hand injury and also was admitted.

Man, woman found hurt at apartment

Police searched the area, but were unable to locate a person seen leaving the vicinity of the trailer shortly before the fire was discovered.

SUSPECT ARSON IN TRAILER RIG FIRE

A patrolling officer noticed sparks falling from the bottom of a Midland truck trailer, parked at the west end of 24th Street, Monday and found someone had forced open the rear door and started a fire inside.

He alerted Granite City Fire Department personnel, who extinguished the blaze. George Wolfe, 2201 Adams Street, owner of the rig, came to the scene. He was unable to estimate the monetary value of damage to the trailer.

Police searched the area, but were unable to locate a person seen leaving the vicinity of the trailer shortly before the fire was discovered.

Madison to buy 2 new police cars

The Madison City Council has approved the recommendation by Police Chief Don Bridick and the finance committee, that the city purchase two new cars for the police department from Dave Croft of Collinsville, who submitted the low bid of $20,592. A trade-in allowance will be quoted upon examination of the vehicles now in use by the department, Bridick explained.

On a recommendation by Alderman Don Reeves, the councilmen agreed to reject all bids submitted by various companies for gasoline to operate city vehicles. The council instructed Judy Donaldson, acting comptroller, to meet with department heads to prepare guidelines for and advertise for new bids which will include a specific octane content that would ensure the most efficient operation of all vehicles used by the city.

Aldermen passed a resolution to reimburse the Fire Department $7,500 for repairs made to the fire hall. The city's obligation will include a $206 monthly payment, plus interest, until the total cost is repaid. Mike Macke, fire chief, told the council repairs were made to the inside of the rear section of the building and the sand complete ceiling, which had deteriorated during the years and now has been completely renovated.

A notice from Granite City ordering Madison officials to appear in court by 2 p.m. on Feb. 9 in conjunction with delinquent ambulance fees totaling $1,999 was referred to the city attorney, Casper Nighossian.

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. notified the city of Madison that the agreement they have for pole use and rental will remain the same, unless changes are made during a court proceeding elsewhere challenging pole space lease agreements.

At the present time, Illinois Bell Telephone Co. provides the poles and Madison may attach cables for an annual fee of $4.25 per pole. Madison will pay all necessary make-ready and construction costs in an agreement that is for one year and, thereafter, until either party gives notice of termination.

Since it is believed there will be no changes in the agreement from the court challenge, the document was placed on file by the aldermen.

Third Ward Alderman William Gushieff read a letter he wrote in response to the recent rate increases allowed to the Illinois Power Co. He said, in part, "I am appalled by the actions of the Illinois Commerce Commission in allowing this rate increase. At a time when industries, schools and local governments have had to cut back on expenses and employee raises, Illinois Power has acted irresponsibly in its efforts to receive higher utility rates. There are people in my ward who are not able to pay their present utility bills, let alone any higher bills in the future. I am therefore proposing tonight that the mayor and city council appoint an aldermanic committee to address the problem of utility rate increases."

Elmer Smith, acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Mike Sasyk, then appointed Gushieff chairman of a committee to study the problem and named Paul Ashford and Don Garrett to serve on the committee. Bills in the amount of $35,449 for the month also were approved by the council.

FREE DENTAL EXAMS OFFERED

Free clinical dental examinations for children are being sponsored by the Washington School of Dental Medicine, in cooperation with the Greater St. Louis Dental Society during National Children's Dental Health Month.

The free examinations, which begin Sunday and continue through Feb. 28, are available for children ages 2 through 18. The examinations will be conducted at the Washington University School of Dental Medicine, 4550 Scott Ave., St. Louis, near the intersection of Euclid Avenue and Barnes Hospital Plaza.

Any child in the metropolitan area is eligible. For appointments and further information, parents may call the School of Dental Medicine, Department of Children's Dentistry, at 454-0013 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

DOWN IT COMES. The screen of the Falcon Drive-In on U.S. Business Route 50 at Sand Prairie Lane, is dismantled by a Canteen Township crew. After many years of showing X-rated films, the theater's property has been purchased by the state as part of Cahokia Mounds State Park and an Indian mound partially destroyed by the theater will be reconstructed.

Shots fired at repair crew

Larry Erney, an Illinois-American Water Company supervisor who was with a service crew repairing a broken water main at Second Street and Ewing Avenue during the weekend, told Madison police that someone fired two shotgun blasts near the crew a few minutes earlier. The supervisor said the shots appeared to come from a house in the 1600 block of Second Street and alleged one of the blasts was directed toward the crew and the second shot seemed to be fired up the street.

Officers found several persons at the residence of Colin Lee Harris, 19, of 1832 Second St., and attempted to talk to Harris, who spoke vulgarly to the officers, allegedly made threats and slammed the door to the residence in their faces.

Harris also allegedly pushed one of the officers, who went inside the house and reported finding a spent shotgun cartridge on a bedroom floor. A 12-gauge shotgun allegedly was recovered from beneath a mattress in the bedroom. Harris was charged with disorderly conduct. He was released after posting a $32 cash bond at 10:10 p.m. Saturday to appear for a Feb. 25 hearing in the Granite City court.

YEAR OF PROBATION

For a Madison credit card violation of more than $150, David Byrd, 19, of East St. Louis has been placed on a year's probation by Associate Judge Edward Ferguson. The charge was filed Oct. 21.

Jockey wins $3 million in injury trial here

A Madison County jury in Granite City has awarded former Jockey Mary Bacon $3 million for injuries suffered at Cahokia Downs Racetrack May 24, 1979, according to her attorney, Gary E. Peel of East Alton.

Miss Bacon suffered numerous broken bones and internal injuries in an accident which had occurred just before her horse entered the starting gate, Peel said. Miss Bacon, from San Leandro, Calif., was at one time rated the top female jockey in America, Peel said. She is also a former Playboy bunny and the model used in Revlon's Charlie perfume ads. She had sought a $5.7 million settlement in the case.

Peel said he is not sure Miss Bacon will ever actually receive any compensation. Cahokia Downs later went out of business. He said several insurance policies may not pay off because the injury did not occur during the race itself.

Associate Judge Norman Kinder presided at the trial.

Crime lab belongs in this area

We were surprised this week to find that the Illinois State Police, Division of Criminal Investigation is considering moving the state crime laboratory out of this area. It doesn't make sense.

Moving the laboratory from Fairview Heights to Mount Vernon, Marion or Carbondale, Ill., even if the state provides a "shuttle service" for such evidence, is bound to increase the time it takes to get reports, to decrease the contact between the investigators and technicians, and to reduce the number of cases police submit to the lab.

Currently, police drive suspects to Fairview Heights for lie detector tests, in addition to taking crime scene evidence and arson evidence there for laboratory testing.

Granite City Chief of Police Ronald Velzer, St. Clair County Sheriff Mearl Justus, the chiefs of police of Highland, Alton, Edwardsville and Fairview Heights, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Police, State Rep. Monroe Flynn the sheriff of Clinton County and others agree. They all went to Springfield Tuesday afternoon to lobby for keeping the crime lab in Fairview Heights.

They formed a committee and will notify James Zeigel, director of law enforcement, if a suitable facility can be found in this area, preferably on or near the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus.

School consolidations could open some office space in Granite City at reasonable rents. We are sure local officials will cooperate in any way with the committee and the state in finding suitable quarters for the crime lab in this area.

It belongs here. We understand that ninety percent of the cases studied at the crime lab are from Metro-East law enforcement agencies. Between 1978 and 1981, Madison and St. Clair Counties had 106,244 major crimes. The other 41 counties south of Springfield had only 96,057 in the same period. Madison-St. Clair had 303 murders in the four-year period. The other four counties had 94 total.

The crime lab is needed here. Removing it from the area it serves would be unthinkable.

U.S. sanctions could harm area

We expected any day now. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is expected to release its "hit list" of areas subject to federal sanctions by the end of January.

We strongly suspect we will be on that list. Areas which failed to meet the strict mandates of the federal Clean Air Act by Dec. 31, 1982, are subject to stiff penalties, including restrictions on new federal money for highway construction, bans on new industries and restrictions on sewage treatment and state program grants. A mandatory auto vehicle emission inspection program also could be imposed.

It makes no sense. Industries have complied in every way with each and every mandate of the EPA. In many cases, the EPA gave local industries variances and extensions to air pollution regulations, for one very important reason — it was impossible for industry to meet those regulations and still survive economically.

We knew years ago, when the Clean Air Act was passed, that it wouldn't work. True, it has been responsible for some major achievements in reducing air pollution. Now the effort should be to continue those improvements, not to impose painful sanctions on areas struggling to rebuild from this deep recession and extremely high unemployment.

State Rep. Jim McPike, House majority leader, said it concisely. "I believe there is a way to deal with the problems of air pollution in our district without pulling the economic rug out from under the area," he stated.

We agree and join with McPike in urging area residents to write U.S. congressmen, senators and the U.S. EPA and ask for common sense, not retaliation.

Fair play, not just 'fair trade'

What is fair play in international trade? National Steel Corporation Chairman Howard M. Love says steelmakers are "not seeking protectionism" but do need "equal treatment among traders for markets. We must not allow any foreign government an advantage in our market that is not permitted in theirs."

The general subject comes to mind with the U.S. Senate's deliberations over a proposed third year of limits on Japanese shipments of passenger automobiles. The International Trade Subcommittee intends to reintroduce trade reciprocity legislation aimed at increasing American access to markets overseas.

In February 1981, Senate legislation to set limits on Japanese auto shipments prompted voluntary ceilings for two years, ending April 1, 1983.

The negotiated ceilings are seen as having prevented a catastrophic jump in Japan's share of the already depressed automotive market. Depreciation of the yen would have offered Japanese firms a golden chance to increase their share of our market by lowering their retail prices.

As senators see it, the continuing problem of currency valuation and the prospect of growth in U.S. sales make a third-year of restraint essential.

In October 1982, U.S. Trade Representative William Brock announced he would seek Japanese agreement to a third-year of restraint. But the government of Japan has not yet agreed.

America may need to strengthen its response to the barriers to U.S. goods, services and investments, and establish a systematic method of negotiating for greater access.

Provisions of the pending Reciprocal Trade and Investment Act include:

—Annual reports to Congress of major foreign barriers and distortions to U.S. exports of products, including agricultural commodities, with estimates given of their impact on the U.S. economy and efforts to achieve their elimination.

—Offsetting of the foreign barriers not removed through negotiation or enforcement of the GATT (General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade). They could be offset by the U.S. through withdrawal of prior U.S. concessions, imposition of duties, and other U.S. restrictions available under present law, as clarified by the new legislation.

—Other retaliatory options not currently available to the president. These could be put into legislation given accelerated consideration by Congress.

—Unfair trade practices for which relief is available under U.S. law. This would be broadened to cover performance requirements and other barriers to investment as well as violations of intellectual property rights.

—And major negotiations to achieve international agreements, encouraging fair and open trade in services, investment flows and high technology.

"I don't think the President said anything more than he has in the past. Only last night he may have been more pessimistic. I don't think he can do all the things he said he would. Our economy is built around wars. Until another one we might not recover."

Alan Landon, Pontoon Beach
"I didn't get a chance to watch the President last night, but I understand he plans on starting a jobs bill. I think if things are going to get better that's one way of starting the healing process. I don't think the President has a free enough hand to implement his ideas though. It seems he always has to compromise."

Tom Bulusko, Granite City
"No, I didn't get a chance to watch it last night. No, I'm afraid the economy is not on the mend. I think things are going to get worse before they get better."

Frank Carroll, Granite City

Doubts preacher's claim he can cure cancer

To the Editor:

Last week, a news release reported that one of the nation's several TV multimillionaire religious fanatics has come up with another scheme to solicit money from people who believe his rantings.

He dreamed up the preposterous story that he had a 72-hour talk with God and he has been chosen to cure cancer.

His letters to his so-called prayer partners are begging each one to send him $240 (what a nice sum).

The sad part is that a lot of these poor people will send it to him.

As an afterthought, if the IRS would tax the churches and all their tax-free property, the tax burden on the rest of us would be a lot lighter.

Gen. McArthur's birthday—time to set the record straight

To the Editor:

Jan. 26 was General MacArthur's birthday. The memory of world-renowned military heroism will be etched in the minds of this lifetime and others to come, as a patriotic military genius without parallel.

Still, his famous landing of Oct. 20, 1944, at Palo-Leyte, Philippines, is still being documented erroneously. Just recently in Parade magazine, the national supplement in Significa, where facts are supposedly printed to be accurate, they ran the Luzon, Philippines, Jan. 5, 1945, landing, "captioning it as the famous 'I shall return' landing. Also, famous Hollywood Producer Bob Haimi of the production Nurse, stated the landing at Leyte was "rehearsed 12 times," which is ridiculous and not the truth.

I have the signed statements of the seven living men, whom I met personally in Norfolk, Va., in 1974 at the 30th anniversary ceremonies of the landing, that verify their one time landing that day.

The misconceptions and untruths of this world event go on, and on, and on. The general would be dismayed and probably angered at all the inaccuracy of his landing that eventual day, that changed the course of World War II. I have written to both publications showing they erred.

There will be a new movie about MacArthur being filmed now for release by Thames of London who do a magnificent of biographies.

In it, you will see my friend Paul Barnett's No. 13 Navy landing craft bringing in the general for his famous wet landing plus much combat film and interviews with men who did the landing.

Keeping gutters clean is a problem residents can solve

To the Editor:

I feel that the city should think more strongly on the sewer problem we have. All the garbage in the gutters, leaf leaves, and papers, stops up our sewers.

Especially when it rains, the rain carries all the collection in the gutter to the sewer. So, every time it such as CBS Correspondent Bill Dunn.

I was under the assumption that, at long last after five years and several thousands of dollars spent for research, that the landing was finalized in it's accuracy by the news media, but apparently this is not the case, yet many have written to me acknowledging that I am correct in facts pertaining to the landing and documentation.

William Manchester, author of the famous best-selling book, "American Caesar," wrote me a note stating that I am probably "the world's best expert on that landing." I consider this quite a compliment from such a world-renowned author and it gives credence to my efforts, which is much appreciated.

GC in need of area cleanup

To the Editor:

Granite City has a serious problem. The problem is that Granite City needs to be cleaned up. The solution — form an organization of people who have free time and are willing to help out the city.

A few suggestions are picking up trash in parks, streets, parking lots, etc. Or fixing up old buildings and houses.

The city could help fund the work that are old and bumpy.

These are just a couple of suggestions. If everybody would just take care of his own property, it would do a lot for the city.

The special Utilities Committee of the city council was informed Friday night that there will be no voluntary reduction in electricity rates for domestic and commercial users here. A. C. Hall, assistant general manager of the Illinois Power and Light Corporation, gave that answer to the committee in response to a direct inquiry made during a conference between the council body and light company officials at the city hall. Alderman C. O. Powell, chairman of the committee, told the officials that they left only one alternative by their refusal. "We will have to recommend to the city council that funds be raised and legal steps taken before the Illinois Commerce Commission which, if we win, will force a reduction," he said.

"I am satisfied to let the commission pass upon the question," Hall stated, "and I am just as certain that when the actual facts are presented to that body, we will be given an increase instead of a decrease in rates."

Nationwide accounting change may be confusing some school taxpayers here

Receivable taxes are not the same as those already paid, nor are purchase commitments the same as purchase payments, the Granite City school system has noted in explaining its fund balances.

The amounts of school financial reserves and debts have received increased public attention during the school district's current deliberations about proposed school closings, employee dismissals and program cutbacks.

Some taxpayers have added up school revenue and expenses over the past dozen years and reached different conclusions than have the school officials about District Nine's financial status.

Such confusion or a resulting "credibility gap" also may have been a factor in voters' 1980 defeat of a school tax proposal, officials believe.

Effective July 1, 1979, to conform to new accounting requirements for governmental financial reports, Granite City schools changed their method of accounting for property taxes and purchase commitments.

Finance Director Norman Owens said this week "In prior years, estimated property taxes to be collected on the current year's levy were recorded as a receivable as of June 30 and were included in revenue for the fiscal year then ending."

"However, in each such year, the current year's tax levy is not yet available. "Distribution of the current levy is not made in time to pay current operating expenditures which exist as of June 30."

"Therefore, because the funds are not available—and because the purpose of the levy is to fund the subsequent school year's expenditures—the estimated taxes to be collected on the current year's levy are now being recorded as a receivable and as deferred revenue at June 30. These taxes then are reflected as revenue in the subsequent period when collected."

The new accounting approach was released by the National Council on Governmental Accounting as Statement 1, Governmental Accounting and Financial Reporting Principles."

Owens said, "This change was made by the school district to conform to the accounting requirements in Statement 1, and also to more properly match tax revenues against the expenditures for which the taxes were levied."

"In prior years, a purchase commitment was recorded as an expenditure and as a liability when the commitment was made. Effective July 1, 1979, the expenditure and related liability are recorded at the time that the commitment becomes an actual liability of the district. "Prior years' financial statements were not restated to reflect the effect of these changes in accounting policies. Consequently, some comparisons may be more difficult to make."

The effect of these accounting changes on July 1979 fund balances and on operations for the year ending in June 1980 involved deducting net receivable taxes of $9,157,633 and adding purchase commitments of $1,356,362.

"These reduced the $7,727,343 fund balance previously reported to minus-$73,936 as of June 30, 1979."

No dioxin found at Kozyak arena

Granite City grocer Bill Kozyak's opinion was confirmed when he learned from the Environmental Protection Agency that there is no trace of dioxin at his horse arena near Maryville.

"We were very happy about it but it didn't surprise me," Kozyak said this week. He said none of the animals around the horse arena had been ill.

Kozyak's arena was one of six Illinois sites the U.S. EPA said might contain dioxin. Samples were taken from all six sites and tested.

Lt. James Stever will be acting district commander, he said. Nargelenas has been commander since November 1981.

Another promotion in the DCI involves Ron Grimmig, who has been commander of the DCI's Southern Illinois area since January, 1982.

Grimmig has been promoted to assistant director of criminal investigation operations in Springfield.

No one offers the total protection that Ziebart does, and we can prove that the type of rustproofing typically offered through car dealers doesn't even come close to the real thing.

If you have any doubts, listen to our challenge... Until Feb. 15th, bring us any imitation Ziebart rustproofing and inspect it with us. If it passes Ziebart rigid specifications, we will reimburse you what you paid for it!

You won't find the car dealer making an offer like that!

State's Attorney Don Weber plan to proceed with additional paperwork to bring Gary Barnhart, 24, of Granite City, and Mark P. Hill, 30, of Edwardsville, back to the county.

Barnhart is at the federal penitentiary at Marion, Ill., and Hill is at a federal prison in Indiana after both pleaded guilty to federal drug trafficking charges in November. The two were arrested after a "sting" operation that brought in 43 drug suspects in July.

Barnhart is serving a two-year sentence and Hill is serving four years, both on charges of trafficking in methamphetamine.

Weber wants to prosecute the men on state charges. Federal authorities, however, are not honoring a writ of habeas corpus, although Weber commended the U.S. Marshall and the U.S. attorney on their cooperation, he said the problem is with the Federal Bureau of Prisons. The "joint bust," he said, was part of a "new spirit of cooperation" between federal and county authorities.

The men were arrested in the county and then transferred to the prisons. Plans are to return them to Leavenworth in Kansas, Weber said, but so far, federal authorities have refused to return the men and "that's not nice," Weber said.

Kinder said it is "reasonable" that Hill is not being returned because he is in a different state and interstate compliance comes into play. "But I never knew Marion had been annexed to another state. I always thought it was in Illinois," Kinder guessed earlier this week.

He suggested that Barnhart is not being returned because the penitentiary at Marion is federal territory, but Weber said he was not certain if that was the reason.

It will take at least 30 days after all papers have been processed for the men to be returned, Judge O'Neill has granted continuances in both cases.

Nightly meetings on school cost cuts

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

It is D Day, minus five. Granite City school officials hope to publicly adopt sweeping cost reductions on Tuesday evening, Feb. 1.

Board members met both Monday and Tuesday nights and will convene again at 7 p.m. tomorrow for an executive session on "continuation of personnel."

Plans were made during a brief general session Monday night to congratulate Gene Baker, South High School soccer coach, on his selection as best soccer coach in the nation.

Superintendent B. J. Davis said after Tuesday's 11 p.m. adjournment that considerable progress has been made in the board's deliberations.

"Matters of budgetary projections and cost control" have occupied the Board of Education for many weeks and the public has taken keen interest in the decisions to be made. About 25 citizens attended Monday night but left after the board decided to hold an executive session about negotiations and personnel. No spectators were present when the recessed meeting was resumed Tuesday evening.

The board announced Dec. 18 it is considering closing North High School, Prather Junior High School, Coolidge Junior High School and up to four elementary schools.

It also is studying honorably dismissing more than 100 employees and reducing or eliminating various school programs.

Officials have said they hope to maintain quality academic instruction while giving less emphasis than in the past to extracurricular and peripheral services.

Public statements have indicated that the district expects to save $5 million a year. With the enrollment at 9,500 and decreasing, it would be physically possible to operate a fewer school system and utilize 90 percent of the remaining buildings' capacity.

In addition to the problem of its budget imbalance, the district is expected to borrow $7,700,000 this year to meet operating costs in the education fund—$6 million from first-year tax anteicipation warrants and $1,700,000 from second-year warrants.

In order to begin second-year borrowing this spring, the district will take initial action Feb. 15 on a tentative 1983-84 budget.

Hope has been voiced by officials that they can end the income-cost imbalance and begin eliminating second-year borrowing.

Building fund borrowing may exceed $500,000 this year.

The dozen cost cutbacks under consideration are:

1. Consolidation of the two high schools—three into one, for an estimated saving of $1,300,000.

2. Consolidation of junior high schools—three into two schools, $400,000 saving, or three into one, $800,000.

3. Closing of elementary schools—one for a saving of $185,000; two, $370,000; three, $555,000; or four schools, $740,000 saving.

4. Adjustments of elementary programs for a saving of $1,350,000, including deletions of elementary physical education for a $196,300 saving, elementary social instruction $151,000, elementary band programs $45,300, elementary learning centers $196,300, assigning one principal to each of two grade schools, saving of $13,700, attaining a class size average of 30 students, $536,000, and dismissing elementary nurses, $90,600. If nine, ten, 11 or 12 elementary schools are open, the above savings would be proportionately less, when combined with the $185,000 per school savings.

5. Adjustment of special education services, $150,000.

6. Reduction or elimination of extracurricular activities, a range of $55,000 to $300,000 in yearly savings depending on which programs are chosen.

7. Limiting of office and student-related supplies and materials to $25 per pupil per building. Based on the projected 1983-84 enrollment of about 9,500, this would save $250,000.

8. Alternating a full-day kindergarten instead of a half-day class every day, $26,000.

9. Reduction of data processing services by an estimated $75,000.

Association, with which Weber has openly feuded in the past, offered support and "courteous people" also have told Weber they are behind him.

Cueto says he is not going to take action on behalf of anyone else filing complaints with his office and, instead, has been telling people to write the Madison County Board or the attorney general's office. "I've got to make a living, I've got better things to do," Cueto said of the telephone calls.

Many of the callers were sympathetic with Marvin Darling, former administrative assistant in Weber's office, who first went to Cueto with charges against Weber of misconduct after Darling was dismissed or left his position.

Darling went to Cueto earlier this month concerning a case in which Cueto was representing Roger Cook, who alleges he was wrongfully prosecuted for rape by Weber, and asked the attorney to be a witness.

Cueto contends Darling put him in a "peculiar situation" and the attorney had no right to forward the information. Darling gave him, according to the Illinois Bar Association Code of Professional Responsibility, "a sound basis for the possibility of a breach of ethical responsibility" by keeping quiet.

"I'm glad I had the opportunity to report R. Cueto," said Darling, who believes what he said in the letter.

Weber said he also has received support since the letter was made public—even from some who openly claim to dislike the state's attorney.

10. Adjustment of student fees to increase school income. Each dollar increase would generate $9,500. If the total fee were $20, this would produce an additional $45,000 in revenue compared to 1982-83.

11. Reduction of central staff administrators, supervisors, coordinators, maintainers and secretarial personnel. This saving has not been estimated. The extent of cutbacks would depend on other reductions and the resulting need for district-wide supervision.

12. Staff cuts. Total reductions in the school district staff for '83-84 are listed in excess of 100 employees (teachers, administrators, custodians, secretaries, etc.).

Supt. Davis has said, "We can borrow only 85 percent against any one year's tax revenues. It is necessary to borrow the entire 85 percent of 1983 education fund taxes, plus an estimated $1.7 million against 1984 tax collections."

"By law, a district cannot borrow beyond 85 percent of its second year's tax collections."

"We also may need to borrow $578,000 in the building fund—$217,000 from last year and $361,000 this year."

"With reduced programs that will have to be done, this deficit will be difficult to reduce without additional revenue. Had the district been successful in passing the 1980 building fund tax referendum, the building fund would be self-supporting."

"As the enrollment growth trend reversed itself, state revenues began to decline and the loss of income surpassed our containment of costs."

"A district loses revenue with the loss of each pupil, but it takes the loss of many students before staff can be reduced. Fixed charges do not decline unless facilities are consolidated."

"Marion County has not been fully funded, and both state aid and the corporate replacement tax payments will not be as much as expected. The state withheld complete state aid payment this past June."

"Inflation has increased our costs, and the economic conditions here have aggravated our dilemma, but the state simply does not have money at present to help us find a solution," the superintendent concluded.

Cueto's allegations are sent to attorney general

By NANCY WEILL
of the Press-Record

A harsh, five-page letter written by Belleville attorney Amiel Cueto that criticizes Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber, as well as a response letter from Weber, will be sent to Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan, according to a source.

Madison County circuit judges met Tuesday night and voted to forward a copy of the letter to Hartigan "for action," the source said.

The letter from Cueto, dated Jan. 14, was sent to Judge Matosian, the Madison County Board and the Bar Association's Disciplinary Commission and accuses Weber of various wrongdoings—ranging from knowingly prosecuting an innocent man to conspiracy.

"The judges met on a regular basis to discuss matters like this. We get input from all the judges," Matosian said. "They don't do anything more than the letter, and Weber's response, over to Hartigan was the only thing the judges could do."

Although they tend to disagree on all other aspects of the allegations, both Cueto and Weber said they expect the issue to end up on Hartigan's desk.

"I could have written a letter of breach of ethical responsibility" by keeping quiet.

"I'm glad I had the opportunity to report R. Cueto," said Darling, who believes what he said in the letter.

Weber said he also has received support since the letter was made public—even from some who openly claim to dislike the state's attorney.

Dismissal motions made on behalf of two Madison County drug defendants were rejected by Circuit Judge P. J. O'Neill Monday over complaints of the two that their trial was being unduly delayed because the federal government would not allow them to return for trial.

Of 40 calls, Cueto says most of them accepted for the first 375 for the evening meal.

During the evening, Scouts will be recognized for service from the top award, the Silver Beaver, to lesser categories and those who have achieved the Eagle rank during the past year will also be accorded special honors.

His remains were taken to a funeral home in Redbud, Ill., until an identification was confirmed, according to Gary McClure, Randolph County coroner. After the body was recovered from the river, it was determined there was a gunshot wound above the right ear, according to a family spokesman. The relative told the Press-Record a Madison policeman now is conducting an investigation into the fatal shooting.

Born in St. Louis, Mr. Narvaez resided in Madison for 24 years. He was unemployed at the time of his death but had previously worked as a mechanic.

He was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

Estimated cost of Venice riverfront

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Preliminary designs for the proposed improvement project at the Venice boat launching facility on the Mississippi River have been submitted to the Illinois Department of Conservation by Juneau Associates, Inc. Venice aldermen learned at the City Council meeting Tuesday night.

The Granite City consulting engineer advised Richard Turner, state conservation department project engineer, that field surveying work will begin as soon as the river stage is low enough to undertake the task.

Cost of the launching ramp project is estimated at $38,640 in the preliminary report, including a total of $49,440 for construction. The $80,000 grant for the Venice project was approved by the Illinois Department of Conservation last October, Mayor Tyrone Nichols said.

Clearing about 700 linear feet of scrub growth along the river side of the parking area and boat launching ramp, which curbs the view of the river, is in the preliminary design plans.

Removal of the existing boat launching ramp by removing and replacing broken concrete curbs and paving, presently partially covered by sand deposited by recent high stages of the river, also is included.

The plans call for removing and replacing pre-cast concrete planks which have been destroyed, and replacing 400 tons of stone rip-rap, costing $6,000, along the upstream side of the launching ramp.

In the adjacent parking area, 200 tons of crushed stone will be added, followed by resurfacing the entire area, about 6,000 square yards, with A-3 modified surface treatment and replacement of all guard posts.

Renovation of the parking site alone will cost an estimated $18,940.

Two permanent signs will be erected, one at the intersection of Bremen Avenue with Illinois Route 3, and the other at the land side of the main east levee, along the Mississippi River, indicating the location of the boat launching facility, the proposal states.

A filter course for the proposed parking area, plus 200 square yards of concrete for the ramp and combined concrete curbing and guard posts, will cost an estimated $17,400, engineers reported.

The fee for engineering plans and specifications, yard containers measures, and firm's review and observation during the construction phase, amounts to $9,200.

Landlords may be down in dumps over 'super' garbage can law

By GEORGEANN MCCOY
of the Press-Record

The Granite City Council approved a trash disposal law Tuesday night that might, Attorney John Papa predicts, will prove controversial to many landlords.

The new law is intended to do away with accumulations of trash bags and smaller containers behind multi-family dwellings, and replace them with large volume or "disposal" containers. The size of the containers would eliminate them from normal city trash pickups.

Alderman Jake Varadani, Fifth Ward, had pushed for the ordinance for several months, citing "unhealthy" conditions left by piles of split and ripped trash bags. "Scattered trash breeds vermin," he said. "After some council members seemed hesitant to hurry the law through council processes, I decided to hold at least a half-cubic-yard per unit.

According to the new law, the minimum three-gallon, dwelling would be required to have a 1.5-cubic-yard container, equaling a container with about a 200-gallon capacity. The city trash contract limits pickups to 30-gallon containers.

George G. Disposal, owner of the Big G Disposal & Container Service, Inc., Granite City, said his company's 1.5-cubic-yard containers are about 5-feet wide and about 3-feet deep. Although Gray's company provides such disposal services, he believes a landlord could circumvent commercial pickups with a bit of ingenuity.

A landlord might have the dumpster filled with trash bags, which he could then take to a landfill site himself.

Big G Disposal charges an average of $16 to $18 a month for a one-ounce pickup of a 1.5-cubic-yard container.

Varadani said the city's container quantity requirements per dwelling unit match the disposal industry.

Aldermen Walter Milton and Stephen Saltich, both from the Sixth Ward, were the only two council members to oppose the ordinance and asked Third Ward Alderman Carl Kitcher to head an ordinance committee chair, not to suspend council rules against allowing the law to be approved on first reading.

However, others were apparently impressed after seeing the ordinance. Third Ward Alderman Paul Fish, who has crusaded for laws curbing "slum" conditions, said, "It has been a problem."

Fish said of the ordinance, "It's a bad problem." Fish said of the ordinance, "It's a bad problem." Fish said of the ordinance, "It's a bad problem."

Violators of the trash container ordinance could be subject to fines ranging from $5 to $100 for each offense. Each day in violation is counted as a separate offense.

Zevallos kidnaps trial

third voice tell them to get into the back seat. She told the court that she knew two names had been used among the captors. "I don't know if it was at the start, but I know I heard Butch and Wayne," she said.

Mrs. Zevallos testified that she and Dr. Zevallos were told that if they made any noise or tried to escape, they would be killed. "We didn't know what it was all about," she said. "They kept asking us about our financial situation, our property, and how many patients my husband saw in his clinic in one day."

After riding "for what seemed to be a very long time" over "extremely rough roads, almost ditches," Mrs. Zevallos testified, they were taken to a cave-like location. "When we walked in, our voices echoed—like bounced off the walls," she explained. When Dr. Zevallos asked her about her state of mind at this time, she responded, "I really thought we were going to die. I seriously thought we were going to die right there. I couldn't keep from crying. I just wasn't very brave at all."

The "cave" turned out to be a seed storage bunker two miles west of Illinois, Ill., near Decatur. The bunker is owned by DeKalb Agricultural Research Station.

Mrs. Zevallos stated that she and Dr. Zevallos did not understand why they had been abducted until several days later, when they were told to repeat a message they gave him. "A few words at a time" into a tape recorder. She testified that, although Dr. Zevallos did not want to make the recording, he did so out of fear for his life. "They told us that if he did not make the recording (which was told to the President Reagan), he (Dr. Zevallos) would be executed," she stated.

Throughout the ordeal, Mrs. Zevallos testified, their captors would then threaten their lives and lie to them about releasing them. "I was so distraught. We just didn't know from minute to minute if we would die. We couldn't trust them because they lied about so many things," she said.

When Dr. Zevallos completed the recording, he asked the captors to let his wife go. Mrs. Zevallos choked as she testified, "I just couldn't control myself. When they asked them to release me, he began to cry. That's when I said, 'Hector, I won't cry anymore. I will be brave for you. And I didn't cry anymore after that.'"

During their captivity, the Zevalloses were given "soda, peanut butter, cookies and a candy bar," Mrs. Zevallos testified. "The place was so hot, we had to get air sometimes," she said. It was during a trip to get fresh air that Mrs. Zevallos pleaded with Butch to spare their lives. "I told him, 'Please, please don't kill us. We'll do anything you want us to do.'"

Mrs. Zevallos was then allowed to speak with her husband alone and she convinced him to say that he would stop doing abortions. "I told him, 'We will never be released until you tell them that you'll stop doing abortions. We finally agreed to tell them what they wanted to hear. We were at their mercy,'" she stated.

Mrs. Zevallos testified that when Dr. Zevallos told Butch that he would quit performing abortions, Butch said, "I'm glad that I don't have to kill you. As far as I'm concerned, you can leave right now."

Later that night, after Butch told the others of Dr. Zevallos' promise, the captors told the Zevalloses to remove their blindfolds. "I was so scared. I didn't want to take the blindfold off. I thought they were still going to kill us," she said. She cried as she said, "I took it off and looked in his (Dr. Zevallos') face. I don't think I'll ever forget that moment. I thought, he thought we were going to die. I don't think I will ever forget my husband's face."

Defendant Don Benny Anderson remained motionless as Mrs. Zevallos identified him as one of the captors. "I saw him very clearly by flashlight," she said.

The blindfolds were replaced and the Zevalloses were put into the car, where Anderson identified himself as the author of a 4-page, anti-abortion "Epistle" which he said was "a result of a revelation he had received," and read parts of it to the Zevalloses. "I was sure that we would be released at this point, until the car suddenly stopped and the older one (Anderson) argued with us to close down the clinic," she said.

Eventually, the Zevalloses were released in the parking lot of the Holiday Inn at Edwardsville with the instructions of the indictments and that the Zevalloses had not suffered as much as they testified. "When there was no jury around, he (Dr. Zevallos) didn't shed a tear. When he testified in front of them, he cried," she stated. "I knew that when she got on the stand, she'd do a crying bit. She did a good job. She couldn't have been too upset because she played golf two days after they were released," Mrs. Anderson added.

In a reference to her husband's innocence, Mrs. Anderson stated, "He is innocent of all the indictments. The real issue is abortion, and they won't let Schoenberg bring it up. Abortions are murder. I just wish that more anti-abortionists would be here. Where are the anti-abortionists?"

Alderman Jake Varadani, Fifth Ward, had pushed for the ordinance for several months, citing "unhealthy" conditions left by piles of split and ripped trash bags. "Scattered trash breeds vermin," he said. "After some council members seemed hesitant to hurry the law through council processes, I decided to hold at least a half-cubic-yard per unit. According to the new law, the minimum three-gallon, dwelling would be required to have a 1.5-cubic-yard container, equaling a container with about a 200-gallon capacity. The city trash contract limits pickups to 30-gallon containers.

Close Corn Sweeteners

would have specified conditions pertaining to caramel coloring, he said.

McMillan added that city officials questioned corporate executives about the plant closing and were told "the decision was based on consolidation of a hedge-podge" of smaller operations.

In light of the latest local plant closing, Mayor Paul Schuler said, "I'm disappointed."

City officials, he said, "tried to cooperate" with ADM in the past, not only at the caramel coloring division, but also at the grain elevator and soybean processing plant on Carroll Road. Industrial revenue bonds were issued for ADM improvements in the past, he said.

While ADM's closing will have an impact on the city's economy, Schuler offered reassurance that "there are some signs the economy is at least bottoming out," and cited the re-opening of the A.O. Smith Corp. plant on Missouri Avenue as a positive factor.

The Corn Sweeteners building will be "mothballed" until a decision is made due to a drug overdose.

Word of the death was kept from public awareness and from some of ADM's private, unannounced service was conducted.

It was not until the inquest in mid-March 1982 that official word of the death became public. The cause of death, said there was evidence of what should be done with it, Burket said.

ADM opened operations in April, 1979, after purchases were made from Mills Laboratories. Originally, the building was inhabited by Union Star. The ADM grain elevator and soybean processing plant was not affected by the closing of Corn Sweeteners.

Throughout 20 states in the Midwest region, ADM operates about 25 plants where various grains are processed for different uses, Burket said.

Violators of the trash container ordinance could be subject to fines ranging from $5 to $100 for each offense. Each day in violation is counted as a separate offense.

While basking in the new-found warmth of their classroom, the fifth grade students at Parkview School are helping, in a small way, to decrease the heating costs of the school. The students of James Noeth and Mrs. Phyllis Talley have constructed a solar heat collector, which has proven to be much more efficient than anticipated.

The science class-related project was given enthusiastic approval by the school's principal, Mrs. Agnes Fryntko. The teachers met with interested parents willing to volunteer their time and some of the needed materials.

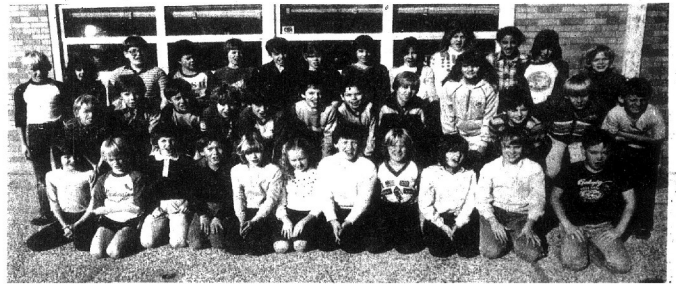

Since the classroom was not suited for use as a workshop, construction was done during the evening in the garage of Noeth's home. All of the children could not work on the solar panel at the same time, so Noeth's wife and some of the parents taught crafts, including needlepoint, crocheting and rub out painting.

The panel, 4 feet by 8 feet, was made of a plywood shell with its front covered with plexiglass. Aluminum beverage cans were used as the heat collectors. The interior of the panel was painted flat black aid in heat retention. The principles of conduction, convection and radiation were all included in the design.

Testing of several designs and a variety of materials was conducted by the children during classroom time. Permission was obtained from school officials to replace one school window pane with a panel of plywood to allow ducts to be installed, linking the solar collector and the classroom.

The most obvious requirement necessary to make the project a success was the fifth-grade classroom's southern exposure, which allows the full potential of the solar panel to be utilized. On several days, the classroom to which the collector has been attached has been heated solely by the sun.

Trust Bank assets set record of $78.9 million

Earnest A. Karandjeff, chairman of the board of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, announced the election of a new director and officer at the meeting of the board last week following the annual shareholders meeting.

Karandjeff also stated that all department heads have been urged to give priority to determining new and better ways to serve bank customers. "The focal point of all this," Karandjeff said, "is to position the bank as a service institution which responds to customer and community needs as its main reason for being. We can only understand those needs by listening to our customers and innovating new procedures and ideas to meet those needs."

Our growth has reflected this attitude with assets at record levels—$78,976,000.

Our bank celebrated its 72nd anniversary last year," Karandjeff continued, "and with the most advanced computer equipment and procedures, we feel that we are able to give the best service available. We plan to continue to develop as a top professional, service-oriented Full Service Bank."

Directors of the bank re-elected are Dale Arnette, Clyde E. Beinfuhr, William P. Donovan, Homer Huber, Ernest A. Karandjeff, Ernest A. Karandjeff Jr., Henry D. Karandjeff, Carl E. Mathias, Donald W. Partney Jr., William L. Patton Jr., Thomas R. Remington and Glenn A. Wolfe. Elected to the Advisory Board was Milford D. Walston.

In summary, Karandjeff commented that, "the state of the economy has been subjected to a great deal of stress the past few years. High unemployment both locally and nationally have hurt both private individuals and business, but we at Granite City Trust have extreme confidence in America's economic system to bounce back and predict a substantial upturn in 1983."

Incident ends in arrest of 2

Two men were arrested this week after allegedly being involved in a disturbance at the home of a brother and sister, James and Jeri Lance, 2154 Lee Ave.

William W. Owens, 33, of 4944 Redwood Lane, was charged with disorderly conduct and Kevin J. Montgomery, 22, Centerville, was charged with not having a Firearm Owner's Identification Card and disorderly conduct. Both were arrested at Ken's Lounge, 1639 E. 20th St., and were released at 11:40 a.m. Monday on notices to appear in court.

Lance told police that Owens came to the house and struck his sister, Jeri, with his fist, knocking her to the ground. He also alleged that Montgomery handed a sawed-off shotgun to Owens, who pointed it at Lance, threatened him and then struck him in the mouth with the gun barrel.

In their report, officers noted that Lance had small cuts near his lower lip and Miss Lance had swelling to her lower lip.

A short time later, Owens and Montgomery were located at a nearby tavern and arrested. No weapon was found in their possession, officers said, but a 12-gauge shotgun shell was discovered in Montgomery's shirt pocket while he was being booked.

Nameoki is taking energy, weatherization aid forms

By PATHAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

Nameoki Township officials will accept weatherization applications along with the energy applications. Harry Briggs, township supervisor, told town board officials Monday night. The weatherization grants will come from the Economic Opportunities Commission (EOC) and contractors designated by the EOC will weatherize eligible homes by installing storm windows, caulking, and insulation.

In a letter to the board Mary Dammann, director of weatherization for the EOC, estimated that 62 persons received weatherization assistance in 1982 and she projected that approximately the same number of benefits in 1983.

Approximately 300 persons have received energy assistance since township officials began accepting applications on Jan. 4. According to Briggs, money still is available for the energy applications. "The EOC hasn't told us to stop accepting applications, so there's obviously money left in the program," Briggs stated.

As with the energy applications, petitioners must present proof of income to receive weatherization assistance.

In other business, Briggs informed town board officials of a suit filed by Granite City against the Nameoki Township concerning nonpayment for ambulance service. The township alleges that the township owes Granite City $1,431 for use of Granite City's ambulance service.

Use of officials argue that they are not bound to pay for the services cited in the suit. "We were billed $1,350 for people who used the ambulance service and don't even live in this township," Briggs explained. "They claim that we owe $691 in retainer fees since July, but the fact is, we never entered into a contract with Granite City and, therefore, don't owe them any retainer fees," Briggs stated.

Briggs alleged that Granite City actually owes money to Nameoki Township. "We have a list of names of people who paid Granite City for the service, but Granite City turned around and took our money for the same people. In reality, they owe us $1,025 in this situation," Briggs said.

Briggs indicated that the town board had voted against the contract and could not be held responsible for the charges incurred by non-residents. "We showed good faith and paid our bills to Granite City. Maybe they'll show good faith and drop this suit," he added.

Town board officials also approved two resolutions: one issuing $40,000 in tax anticipation warrants. Board Member Helen Hawkins was the only member to vote against the resolutions, which will provide $20,000 to the town fund and $20,000 to the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund. Mrs. Hawkins argued that board members had made changes in policy to eliminate the use of tax anticipation warrants. "We set up a system for local tax collection and made provisions in the budget to cover expenses," Mrs. Hawkins stated. "The interest on these warrants is extremely high and we should avoid them altogether," she added.

The warrants will enable the township to meet the payroll through mid-March, when tax funds should be available.

Funds available to rural fire departments

Illinois rural fire departments and fire protection districts have until Feb. 9 to apply for federal matching funds to upgrade their fire fighting capabilities, according to Al Mickelson, Department of Conservation, Forest Resources and Natural Heritage Division chief.

Letters and applications were mailed Jan. 7 to approximately 1,100 communities in Illinois that are eligible for the 50-50 matching funds, which are to be used for organization, equipment and training needs. Communities of fewer than 10,000 people and multi-community fire districts made up of several small communities, none of which exceed 10,000 people, may apply for a grant, Mickelson said.

Funds for the grant awards are appropriated under the Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act of 1978 (formerly Title IV of the 1972 Rural Development Act). Provisions of the Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act are administered nationally by the U.S. Forest Service and within the state by the Department of Conservation.

While formal notification has not been received, DCC officials expect to receive about $117,900 — approximately the same as last year's allocation and 10 percent lower than the 1981 figure to distribute to 45 to 50 qualified rural fire departments. Nationally, approximately $3.1 million will be appropriated for the Rural Fire Protection program. State allocations are based on the number of eligible communities located in each state. Illinois's share of the federal money is the fourth highest in the nation.

Mickelson emphasized that the Department does not keep any of the allotment for administrative purposes, although federal law entitles the agency to use 10 percent of the funds for administration.

Emphasis for 1983 grants will be on the formation of new fire departments, multi-community projects converting federal excess vehicles for fire fighting purposes and on purchasing and in-batteries which were purchased for the salt spreader and street sweeper. Trustee Joe Garcia questioned the need for a battery in the spreader, which is never used during the winter. When Mehelec explained that the battery is needed to move the machine around in storage, Trustee Lee Adams alleged that 12 batteries have been bought in the last year to service eight pieces of equipment.

Mehelec indicated that all batteries were used in township vehicles. "You can look for yourself. All of the batteries are accounted for," Mehelec stated.

stalling communications equipment.

"The uses to which small fire departments put these grants are of great value to conservation," Mickelson said. "In northern Illinois, control of wild fires, which could claim vast amounts of our forest resources, depends almost totally on local fire districts in southern Illinois, which is heavily forested in some areas, Department and U.S. Forest Service fire-fighting personnel are assisted tremendously by fire departments and fire protection districts."

Further information about the grants and grant applications may be obtained by writing the Department of Conservation, Division of Forest Resources and Natural Heritage, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62706; or phone (217) 782-2261.

Man allegedly throws weapon

Billy C. Barnett, 28, of 2217 Ohio Ave., was arrested this week on state charges of unlawful use of a weapon and not having a Firearm Owner's Identification Card and on a battery complaint signed by his wife, Beverly F. Barnett.

The arrest came about when police responded to a call that a fight was in progress in the parking lot of the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave., and found the Barnett.

Mrs. Barnett, who was bleeding from her chin and mouth, reported her husband had struck her with his fist and alleged to officers that he had thrown a gun under a nearby truck.

Barnett allegedly admitted having a gun in his boot and throwing the weapon beneath the vehicle when police arrived. A .25-caliber chrome-plated automatic pistol, containing six live rounds in the clip, was recovered from under the truck, police said.

Barnett said he purchased the weapon in East St. Louis. He appeared in court this week and pleaded guilty. He was fined $204 and placed on probation for one year. The weapon was ordered forfeited and he was released.

45 DAYS IN JAIL FOR GC BURGLARY
Circuit Judge Philip Rarick has ordered Darrell L. Spears, 22, Ferguson, Mo., to serve 45 days in the Madison County jail and to spend two years on probation. Restitution of $100 has been ordered, and the defendant was fined $818 plus $82 costs.

The date of a Granite City burglary was not specified. The case was filed Aug. 6, 1981, and he pleaded guilty in November 1982.

Pursuit ends in 9 charges

A pursuit through several neighborhood streets at 12:20 a.m. Tuesday, resulted in the fleeing driver's arrest and a Granite City police vehicle being damaged.

Charles S. Mosby, 29, of 2623 Iowa St., was taken into custody at 26th and Iowa streets and was charged with driving while under the influence (DUI) of alcohol, fleeing and attempting to elude police, illegal transportation of alcohol, driving the wrong way on a one-way street, criminal damage to city property, being a minor in possession of alcohol and three stop sign violations.

The pursuit started in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue when a patroling officer, heading north, noticed a vehicle in the southbound lanes. After making a U-turn and activating the red lights, the officer saw the vehicle slip sideways and make a left turn onto 25th Street.

The driver in the auto being chased appeared to pull over and stop, but then took off again when the squad car also turned into 25th Street, the officer said.

The fleeing vehicle turned left onto Washington Avenue, right on Hodges Street, right on 10th Street, right on 11th Street, right on Washington and left on 27th Street. The car turned onto Iowa, 26th Street, Washington and on to Jerden Avenue before going into the Sacred Heart Church parking area, where the driver went through to Sheridan Avenue.

The chase continued along August onto 26th Street and across Washington, where the driver tried to make a right turn onto Iowa, but the vehicle jumped the curb and hit a tree at 26th and Iowa.

At that point, with his escape blocked by a squad car driven by James Reader, the driver reversed his vehicle, apparently trying to continue on, but he backed into the front end of a second police unit, which was westbound on 26th Street.

The officers at the scene alleged that Mosby emitted a smell of alcohol and an open can of beer was seen on the front floorboard. A full can of beer also allegedly was found in the car.

Mosby agreed to take a breathalyzer test, which was administered by Madison Officer William Weidner.

He was released at 2:05 a.m. Tuesday on payment of a $205 cash bond and by posting his driver's license.

Officer Stephen R. Willard, the pursuing officer whose vehicle was damaged, sustained injuries to his fingers as his right hand when he tried to open the door of the damaged car. He was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 2:10 a.m. Tuesday.

TWO STEAL BICYCLE

Two youths were seen stealing a 10-speed bicycle from the home of Paul Grimes, 2301 Nameoki Road, at 6:04 a.m. Tuesday. One of the thieves was about 18 years old with long hair and was wearing a blue jacket and jeans. The second youth, about 16, had short hair and wore a red flannel shirt and jeans.

Gitcho retiring from Madison Bank; John Lee III promoted

Andre N. Gitcho has announced his retirement as chairman of the board and president of First National Bank in Madison. The announcement was made at the annual director's meeting.

John E. Lee III was elected the new chairman of the board and president of the bank.

Gitcho has been at the Madison Bank for 46 of the bank's 49 years in existence. Born and raised in Madison, Gitcho graduated from Madison High School in 1934. On May 1, 1936, he was employed as a teller, assistant cashier, cashier and executive vice-president.

Gitcho was elected chairman and president in January 1974, following the death of Dr. John E. Lee Jr. Gitcho was on the board of the American Institute of Banking and active locally with the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross and the United Way.

He is a past president and still a member of the Madison Lions Club. Gitcho also was a zone and district chairman of Lions International. He is a member of St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church in Venice.

He and his wife, Shirley (Wheeler) Gitcho, have two daughters and two sons.

Gitcho plans to remain in the Quad-City area and will continue to serve as a director of the bank.

"Much of the bank's strength as a financial institution and its large customer growth can be attributed to Andy. I am very pleased he will remain a director and be available as a consultant. You simply cannot replace 46 years of knowledge," Chairman Lee said.

In addition to Lee's election, the following officers were re-elected at the board meeting: Walter Blumenfeld, executive vice president; James W. Foley, vice president and auditor; John N. Belcoff, and Mrs. Margaret M. Lee, vice presidents; Dorothy Shabo, cashier, and Sharon L. Jackson, assistant cashier. Director's elected in addition to Gitcho and Lee are William H. Aufderheide Jr., Blumenfeld and Mrs. Lee.

GC parks seek 2 supervisors

The Granite City Park District currently is accepting applications for two supervisory positions in the district.

Applications for both openings must be received at the park office, Benton Street and Oregon Avenue, no later than Feb. 4. Arrangements can be made at that time for an interview with David Nolan, director of parks and recreation.

A full-time position of maintenance supervisor, open immediately, is to be filled by the district. A resume is required to be submitted with an application for this opening.

Requirements for the job include a high school education, two years of supervisory experience in the maintenance field, two years of building, landscape or vehicle maintenance experience and each applicant must be a resident or be willing to move into the park district at the time of acceptance for the position.

Annual salary for the maintenance supervisor position is $12,350, plus benefits.

A new part-time position of building (ice rink) supervisor and soccer coordinator has been created by the park district to oversee the new indoor soccer program, which is scheduled to begin in March.

The monthly salary is $850, with no additional benefits, and the position will last only six months.

Requirements for the new position include a high school education, experience with indoor soccer programs and playing experience, some supervisory experience and residency in the park district.

Interviews for both positions will begin the week of Feb. 7. Those interested in either opening may go to the park office in person for additional information.

Railroad freight car oversupply continues

Amsted Industries has announced that sales in the first fiscal quarter of 1983, ended Dec. 31, 1982, were $112 million, or 43 percent, or 33 percent from the December 1981 quarter.

Operations in the quarter resulted in a loss of $5.3 million, or 31 cents per share, compared to a profit of $3.6 million, or 33 cents per share, for the same period last year.

Robert H. Wellington, Amsted president, said the reduced operating results were primarily the result of lower sales volume attributable to continuing softness in the major markets Amsted serves.

The decreased level of sales has resulted in reductions of company facilities at substantially below capacity, including the temporary shutdown of some plants producing railroad products. Among those shut down are the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City.

The start-up of a new railroad wheel plant near Columbus, Ohio, has been delayed.

Railroad product sales were $34.9 million, down $26.2 million or 43 percent, principally the effect of lower new rail car construction.

Construction and building products sales of $44.5 million were down $9.1 million or 17 percent, reflecting lower shipments of ductile iron pressure pipe, gas pipe products and valves.

Sales of general industrial products of $32.6 million were down $19.3 million or 37 percent, the result of volume decreases for most of the products in this category.

Unallocated first-quarter items amounted to a net expense of $700,000 in 1982 and $1.1 million in 1981.

Pre-tax operating results changed from $900,000 to a $1,100,000 loss, rail products, $2,600,000 to $1,300,000, building products, and $3,800,000 to a loss of $1,500,000, industrial products.

Lower sales volume was the principal factor causing the decline in operating results for all product segments, although price weakness in railroad products was also a significant factor.

Major cost-cutting measures partially mitigated the decline.

Wellington said additions to property in the first quarter were $2.7 million. Present plans call for expenditures for property additions of $16 million in fiscal 1983. Expenditures will be for programs already underway and replacement projects.

Working capital at Dec. 31, 1982, was $125.4 million. Current assets, including cash and short-term investments of $45.9 million, total $191.7 million. Current liabilities are $66.3 million.

There is no short-term or long-term debt, and none is anticipated in the balance of the fiscal year.

Amsted's backlog of orders on Dec. 31 was $99 million, compared to $211 million a year ago and $110 million on Sept. 30, 1982.

The backlog for new and repair freight car shipments was $24 million, down from $63 million a year ago and $30 million in September.

The board of directors declared a quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share payable March 15 to stockholders of record on Feb. 18. This is a decrease from the 40 cents per share paid in December 1982.

The company said the reduction was made because of the soft demand in the markets it serves.

For the remainder of fiscal 1983, Wellington said, the outlook is for continued depressed results in the second quarter with improvements later in the year.

"An oversupply of certain types of freight cars in service, the depressing effect of high mortgage rates, a soft overall economy and the present low backlog are factors affecting the outlook."

Longer-term, the need for freight cars by the deregulated and energy-efficient railroads, the requirements for new housing, and a recovery of the overall economy should improve the outlook for the company's prospects," he concluded.

Stockholders re-elected four directors to three-year terms. They are: Roger E. Leach, chairman, Amsted; J. Thomas Schanck, president, Amsted; Donald E. Nordlund, chairman, A. E. Stanley Manufacturing Co.; and J. Thomas Schanck, chairman and chief executive officer, Signode Corp.

LANDS ON SQUAD CAR

Noticing two men standing the roadway talking at Niedringhaus Avenue and Chestnut Street last week, a patrolling officer stopped the squad car to allow them to move, when one of the men jumped toward the police vehicle, and backward on its hood, the officer alleged.

Arrested at the scene was Rick A. Nelson, 21, of 2064 Lee Ave., who allegedly became unruly at police headquarters and was charged in a state complaint with disorderly conduct. He was released the same day upon paying a $52 cash bond.

DRIVER HURT

An accident on Nameoki Road at Herbert Street at 4:30 p.m. Monday, involved vehicles operated by Kathleen A. Daves, 2208 Alexander, who sustained an injury, and Laura S. Nobis, 925 Washington Ave., Madison. Both vehicles were southbound at the time.

Unemployment staff could have compassion

To the Editor:

I can certainly identify with the "Unemployed Worker" who was having problems with the local unemployment agency. I, too, have had my share of problems with this same office in the past and also presently.

To be fair, there are some decent people working there.

question and receive an impatient, condescending answer leaves me feeling incompetent — a terrific mental attitude.

My husband is also laid off and neither one of us, or any other unemployed worker, needs to be treated in such a humiliating manner. We have enough worries without these attitudes. The staff at our office, as I was told, overworked with our unemployment rate as high as it is, but, as the previous letter writer said, at least they do have jobs and their courtesy and helpfulness could go a long way in aiding our mental health.

Changing the subject a bit, I was a bit surprised to read about the computer mistake in jury selection in Edwardsville. The very same thing happened in Granite City's jury, except that everyone in G.C. had a 12th grade education.

I was one of the jurors in Granite City. We were challenged because of the error and dismissed on Tuesday, Jan. 18. The jury in Edwardsville served one day, here two days — a mistake I figure cost at least $1,200.

Sort of ironic to me. I sit at the unemployment office to collect funds I've worked for and know someone can so easily cost all of us so much with a mistake.

Such is life.

Feels fence at store hinders the handicapped

To the Editor:

The Amvets and Amvets Auxiliary of Post 51 feel that the newly installed fencing located around the exit of the local K-Mart store.

This fencing creates an extremely difficult situation with which no handicapped person should have to cope. We also feel that the fencing is a fire hazard because, in an emergency, easy exit is not available to the patrons of the store.

A member of our organization called the K-Mart store and was told that the fencing was installed to keep the area of the parking area and to keep them from being stolen.

Worry about possible high school crowding

To the Editor:

I am a student of Prather Junior High and I would like to voice concern about the closing of North High School. I don't think the school superintendent should do that.

It will just cause a handful of new problems if they close it and send the students to South High School. The students would get into fights and there would be more drugs.

We have enough problems at our school dealing with fights and other problems. If they send North students to South, it will just cause more.

It will be way too crowded for all of the high school students in Granite City to go to one school. I think they could work it out another way.

If they need a building to use for another purpose, they could build a new one. It would help them by fixing it up the way they want, and it would help others by giving them a job to build it.

A lot of people are out of work and it could help them a whole lot.

RHONDA FLAUGHER, 2642 North St.

Bad time for IP rate hikes

To the Editor:

In reference to my being locked up in the Granite City Jail on Jan. 4 and 5 for contempt of court, I don't dispute, but to take exception to manner in which I was treated that way.

There was no pad or mattress on my steel bunk and my hips were sore for a week. I can't sleep on my back. There was nothing to do but stare at four 15-foot walls. No reading material, nothing but a lot of noisy banging and banging.

There was no toilet paper and didn't get any until the second day when I begged it. (Alcohol) Due to get me some. He was the only officer there to treat me like a human being. POWs didn't get treated that way.

The food was awful: instant coffee and a piece of toast for breakfast. For dinner and supper, they gave old outdated TV dinners. My dog gets better than that.

I am over 61 years old and was treated very cruelly for a minor offense. I feel sorry for anyone locked in your jail. The County Jail was a paradise with fresh food, reading material, radio and TV.

MICHAEL N. BILLICK, Granite City

Avoid all-day kindergarten

To the Editor:

I am writing as a concerned teacher and parent. I am very concerned about the possibility of an all-day kindergarten program.

As a former kindergarten and pre-school teacher, I believe this would be a mistake. Granite City has a fine kindergarten program, and it should not be turned into a half-day kindergarten and half-day "day care" program.

Kindergarten children tire easily, and an all-day experience would be too long. Remember that many of these children are only four years old when they start school.

The skills they are being taught need to be reinforced daily with alternate days for classes, much time would be spent re-teaching.

I understand that something must be done about the financial situation, but should our excellent programs suffer when buildings are sitting with empty classrooms?

I believe our primary goal is to provide the best education possible. Granite City School District has always met that goal. Please, let us not do anything to change our fine reputation.

JOYCE TRACY

OPPOSES MERGING OF HIGH SCHOOLS

To the Editor:

I'm writing about the problems you would have if you combined North and South high schools and Coolidge, Grigsby and Prather Junior high schools.

There would be fights, arguments and overcrowding of classes.

Teachers at the closed-down schools also could lose their jobs.

My solution is to keep the schools open.

KENNY HARVEY, Granite City

Pupils need personal help

To the Editor:

I feel that school system's educational opportunities are going to dwindle down to no opportunities, if our financial problems continue.

The classes are overcrowded as it is. Closing more schools would make it worse.

The education level would most likely go down. The students would not get the personal help they usually get.

My solution would be to cut the classes in junior high school and high school, shorten the school day, make the elementary schools kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Various items that were apparently destroyed in the flooding include two couches, a rocking and reclining chair, four kitchen chairs, two sets of encyclopedias, throw rugs, tools, blankets, a television, clothes and shoes.

Scroggins informed the council that Nesbitt also suffered damage to a washer and dryer in the basement, but is not seeking compensation for the pair. Nesbitt was a candidate in the 1981 race for Granite City Township supervisor.

Ill. Supreme Court overrules conviction on reckless homicide

The reckless homicide conviction of Jimmy L. Creek, 47, of the 2100 block of Louisa Street, was reversed by the Illinois Supreme Court Monday and a conviction for driving while intoxicated (DWI) was remanded for an appellate court review.

The ruling is the latest in judicial decision involving a Nov. 19, 1978, traffic accident in which Faye Agnes Lee, 64, of Granite City, was killed and three others injured. Justice Robert C. Underwood wrote the court's opinion on the case, terming it "procedurally confused."

Original charges of improper lane usage and DWI were dropped, pending investigation of felony charges. Creek later was charged in an state's attorney's information document with reckless homicide.

Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill, who was then an associate judge, dismissed the reckless homicide charge in January, 1979, because the Illinois State Police failed to send a trooper to preliminary hearings scheduled two weeks apart.

The charge was dropped "with prejudice," it was allowed to be introduced later and Creek was indicted by a Madison County Grand Jury in February, 1979.

The legality of reinstating the charge had been argued on the grounds of double jeopardy, but the defense was unsuccessful and the DWI charge also was reinstated.

Creek was convicted June 6, 1980, on both charges and sentenced to serve 364 days in prison on the reckless homicide charge and a concurrent one year term on DWI.

As the trial court reviewed post-trial motions, the Fifth District Appellate Court in Mt. Vernon reviewed the double-jeopardy argument and reversed both convictions, but the Supreme Court invalidated that ruling, saying that the court had no jurisdiction.

The ruling delayed the notice of appeal by more than a year, although, according to law, it was to be filled within 30 days.

Because the court erred, Underwood suggested in the written opinion that the process guarantees in the state and federal constitutions may have been violated. The Supreme Court also determined that the dismissal of the reckless homicide charge precluded later reinstatement.

The accident occurred on Illinois Route 162, one-half mile east of State Ad 35 when Creek, who was driving westbound, allegedly crossed the center line and collided with an eastbound automobile driven by David W. Lee, Mrs. Lee's son.

Prayer Group for school cost cutbacks, high quality

The Prayer Breakfast Group this week issued a statement urging public officials of the Granite City school district's budget-balancing goal.

The group said it "endorses the School Board's efforts to balance income and expenses, and to maintain high quality in its instructional programs."

The Prayer Breakfast Group encourages the public to be supportive of these efforts.

"Although some of the necessary actions may be painful, sound decisions must be made in the near future," the statement concluded.

The school system is considering consolidating several schools, cutting the size of the staff, and eliminating or reducing a variety of programs.

The Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce board earlier adopted a resolution on the topic.

The Chamber said it "applauds the school district's efforts to reduce costs, and supports the type of cost reduction actions presented by the School Board at the special meeting held Dec. 18."

"The Chamber further maintains that the appropriate course of action—for the school district to overcome its financial difficulty—is by effective cost reduction measures; that the Granite City school district's efforts to increase revenue by raising tax rates."

TB still a threat

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

As recently as 60 years ago, more people died from tuberculosis than from any other disease. We didn't hear much about TB anymore. Is it a disease of the past?

The answer to that begins with the introduction of drug therapy in the 1940s, continuing improvements in drugs, new treatment techniques and advancements in medical knowledge.

Since the beginning of the 1900s, the number of deaths from tuberculosis has decreased by more than 99 percent.

Unfortunately, because of the progress that has been made, many people believe TB is no longer a public health problem. But even with all our progress, tuberculosis is still the second leading cause of death from infectious disease in the United States.

In Illinois, more than 1,600 new cases were reported last year.

Tuberculosis is an infection which usually attacks the lungs, but it can also be carried by the blood stream to other body organs such as the kidneys and brain, or the spinal cord.

When the disease is in the contagious stage, the bacteria are forcefully expelled from the lungs, usually by coughing.

Most of the larger contaminated drops of moisture fall to the ground.

The small ones can dry up and stay suspended in the air. But even if these are inhaled, they may be filtered out by the hairs in the nose or washed out of the body by the body fluids.

Tuberculosis is not spread through the handling of dishes, linens, clothing, food or other such items.

The air inside your home, school or office, if not properly ventilated, may remain contaminated even when a person with tuberculosis is away. If a susceptible person shares this enclosed space for a period of time, he can become infected.

A susceptible person is someone whose body is already run down for some other reason. It could also be a person who inhaled the bacteria into his lungs where they found the heat and oxygen they need to thrive.

If the body's natural defenses against the bacteria cannot kill the bacteria, the body tries to seal them off with scar-like tissue. If this works, the bacteria may be sealed away and remain inactive for a long time.

Many people who get TB today may have had the bacteria in their bodies a long time. The bacteria remains walled up in tiny, hard capsules until the person gets sick from another illness and the body's resistance is lowered.

The tuberculosis bacteria then break out of their capsules and start to multiply, and the disease becomes active.

A single exposure to someone with active TB usually doesn't result in an infection in another person. It normally takes exposure over a prolonged period of time, such as that at home among family members or among students and teacher in a classroom.

David Medley, master councilor, conducted the chapter's regular meeting which proceeded the district meeting. Among events discussed was A. D. Manners Chapter, Fairview Heights 60th anniversary banquet held at Scottish Rite Cathedral, Belleville, on Jan. 15. "Dad" Gene Ross, 33°, H.L.O.H., and Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Illinois was the guest speaker. "Dad" William J. Mehl, 33°, L.O.H., a charter member of the local chapter and its third master councilor, presided over the ceremonies at the Masonic Temple in E. St. Louis when A. D. Manners was instituted in 1922. He spoke briefly on that event.

Others in attendance were: DeMolays - Neal Mize, Keith Payne, Scott Pursell, Dwayne Tyler and Matt Worthen; Dwayne Pritchett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer, Mrs. Gertrude Mehl and Mrs. Doris Ross.

Tickets for DeMolay's annual Chili Supper on Tuesday Feb. 15, were distributed. Tickets in advance or at the door are $1.75, and serving will be from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 2001 Street and Cleveland Boulevard, featuring chili and desserts. Carryouts will be available.

The Mother's Club, hosting the District 16 Mothers Club meeting, met in separate session and served refreshments following the district meeting.

Madison Concerned Citizens (MCC) noted at their January meeting that Illinois Power Co. has been granted rate increases and that it also plans to file for further rate hikes.

A suggestion was made to start a petition drive, similar to one in Granite City, for election rather than appointment of the Illinois Commerce Commission. The ICC regulates utility rates.

Also proposed were MCC letters to area legislators voicing concern over utility costs.

A local public hearing obtained by the MCC may have done some good, since IP did not get the full rate increases requested, citizen members said.

Several were critical of aldermen for allegedly "not fighting higher utility rates." One MCC member said higher rates will produce more funds for the city government through utility taxes.

Regarding such taxation, was alleged that the maximum levy allowed was voted by all aldermen although such plans were not discussed prior to the previous city election.

The MCC decided to sponsor public debates this year and to invite City Council candidates to speak, with each candidate given five minutes to talk and then being called on to answer questions voiced by members of the audience.

An MCC meeting is to be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 21 at the Polish Hall, followed by Ward One candidates at 7:30 p.m. and Ward Two aspirants at 8 p.m.

The group wants to host Ward Three and Ward Four

Other talks were by Mrs. Mary Stuart, president of Illinois State Council of DeMolay Mothers Clubs and Jimmy K. Stuart, Coordinator of Sales for Illinois DeMolay.

Others in attendance were: DeMolays - Neal Mize, Keith Payne, Scott Pursell, Dwayne Tyler and Matt Worthen; Dwayne Pritchett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer, Mrs. Gertrude Mehl and Mrs. Doris Ross.

Tickets for DeMolay's annual Chili Supper on Tuesday Feb. 15, were distributed. Tickets in advance or at the door are $1.75, and serving will be from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 2001 Street and Cleveland Boulevard, featuring chili and desserts. Carryouts will be available.

The Mother's Club, hosting the District 16 Mothers Club meeting, met in separate session and served refreshments following the district meeting.

Madison Concerned Citizens (MCC) noted at their January meeting that Illinois Power Co. has been granted rate increases and that it also plans to file for further rate hikes.

A suggestion was made to start a petition drive, similar to one in Granite City, for election rather than appointment of the Illinois Commerce Commission. The ICC regulates utility rates.

Also proposed were MCC letters to area legislators voicing concern over utility costs.

A local public hearing obtained by the MCC may have done some good, since IP did not get the full rate increases requested, citizen members said.

Several were critical of aldermen for allegedly "not fighting higher utility rates." One MCC member said higher rates will produce more funds for the city government through utility taxes.

Regarding such taxation, was alleged that the maximum levy allowed was voted by all aldermen although such plans were not discussed prior to the previous city election.

The MCC decided to sponsor public debates this year and to invite City Council candidates to speak, with each candidate given five minutes to talk and then being called on to answer questions voiced by members of the audience.

An MCC meeting is to be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 21 at the Polish Hall, followed by Ward One candidates at 7:30 p.m. and Ward Two aspirants at 8 p.m.

"Dad" Gene Ross, 33°, H.L.O.H., and Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Illinois was the guest speaker. "Dad" William J. Mehl, 33°, L.O.H., a charter member of the local chapter and its third master councilor, presided over the ceremonies at the Masonic Temple in E. St. Louis when A. D. Manners was instituted in 1922. He spoke briefly on that event.

Minor accident ends in charges

Called to a minor accident at 2212 Grand Ave. early this week, an officer found Steven W. Prince, 27, of 3801 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, seated in a car and was told by Venus Derr of the Grand Avenue address that Prince had backed his car from a driveway into her parked car.

Upon asking Prince to step from his vehicle, the officer saw the man push a shiny object under the front seat and allegedly recovered a .22-caliber revolver, containing five live rounds of ammunition, from beneath the seat.

Prince was handcuffed, but allegedly declined to enter the squad car and force was needed to seat him. During the tussle, the man reportedly kicked one officer in the chest and threatened the officers with bodily harm while enroute to the station and at the booking window. He also declined to cooperate or give information, reports said.

Prince was charged with battery, resisting arrest, unlawful use of a weapon, not having a Firearm Owner's Identification card and reckless driving.

Two from GC on IJU Deans' List

The names of 690 Eastern Illinois University students are on the Deans' List for the fall semester, including two from Granite City. It has been announced. The Deans' List replace the honors and high honors rolls previously used to recognize academic achievement.

These lists were determined by grade point averages (3.50-3.74 for honors and 3.75-4.0 for high honors). Under the new system, the top 10 percent of students in each school or college are included on the Deans' List. There also is a category of undeclared majors and the Board of Governors' bachelor of arts degree program with the same rule applying. Granite Cityans on the new Deans' List are Kimberly Ann Evans, 2409 Roney Drive, and Mark McWhorter, 4611 Vine St.

Richard Kierski and Pamela Leslie

Kierski-Leslie

The engagement of Miss Pamela Jean Leslie and Richard L. Kierski is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Leslie, Rural Route Two, Granite City.

Parents of the prospective groom, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kierski, reside at 820 Washington Ave., Madison.

Miss Leslie graduated in 1978 from Granite City High School North and is employed at the Microfilm Business Products Center.

Her fiancé is a service technician for State Radio and TV and is a 1971 graduate of Madison High School. He also is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

The betrothed couple are completing plans for a May 7 wedding to take place at the Second Baptist Church.

Talent show at Nameoki School

An annual Talent Show, sponsored by Nameoki School PTA, was held last week in the school gymnasium featuring 17 different acts performed by students in the various grade levels.

Those capturing first place awards were Nameoki's Cheryl Forbes, Greg Kobner, Kristi Davidson and Andrea Cline.

Honorable mention went to Amy Storka, Valerie Mason, Michelle Novosel, Penny Farris, Christy Farris, April Polivick, Athena Harris, Tammi Wickham, Karen Dupont, Heidi Koenig and Jennifer Wortham.

Amvets Auxiliary to sponsor essay contest

The annual Americanism essay contest was the main topic of discussion during the regularly scheduled meeting of Amvets Auxiliary 51 at the Post Home, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Mrs. Betty Wilkins, president, and Americanism chairman, announced that letters were sent to all of the grade schools in the Granite City area outlining the rules of the contest, which is open to all children in the sixth grade.

All sixth graders may enter the essay contest individually in the event their teachers do not assign the essay as a class project or assignment. More information on the contest will be available before the deadline of April 15.

It was also announced by Mrs. Wilkins that over 700 pounds of cans were turned in to the recycling-center by the auxiliary and that the proceeds will be used to purchase dust covers for the auxiliary's files.

Secretary Charlotte Torregrossa read a letter of approval from the Granite City Board of Education concerning the essay contest. She also read letters of thanks from the U.S.O. at Lambert Field for the donation of snack food and homemade bakery items from school nurse, Mrs. Ruth Crawford, in appreciation of the donation of a pair of new shoes and clothing for a needy student.

Junior vice-president Jenny Kidwell reported that fruit baskets were made up by several auxiliary members and distributed to all of the residents of the Madison County Sheltered Care Home in Edwardsville during a Christmas party and ice cream social for the residents. A Christmas gift was also presented to a past department president (Amvets Auxiliary) who is now a resident of the home.

Mrs. Kidwell thanked members who purchased the fruit and all who participated in making up the fruit baskets and giving them to the residents.

Another auxiliary member, Brenda Wells, reported contacting the local K-Mart Store to protest the recent addition of fencing which encloses the exit to the store and which she felt poses a hardship for all handicapped persons and causes a great inconvenience to all shoppers.

The members of both Amvets and Amvets Auxiliary of Post 51 later voted to draft letters of concern and protest with copies going to the Press-Record, Mayor Paul Schuler and the City Council of Granite City. A discussion then followed concerning the parking of non-handicapped persons in areas designated for handicapped only. Members agreed to place notices on vehicles which are thought to be parked in handicapped parking areas, and not disabled.

Remember that God's throne is a throne of grace. You do not come there in a state of perfection, nor should you wait until you feel worthy. After all, we come there to receive from God, not to give to Him. We are to "obtain" and "find" in our time of need.

How you come to God does make a difference. Be humble, of course, but also be bold. Have courage! God loves you. It is He who wants you to come. It is He who will supply your needs. You do not have to beg for something that is already yours.

Be bold and come to Him today.

Whitaker readies team for regionals

Steeler matmen defeat Knights; called best ever

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — As the saying goes, things only get better with age. Few phrases describe the Granite City North wrestling team more accurately.

Tuesday night, a vintage Steeler wrestling team annihilated Triad 55-9 for its 38th consecutive victory. The Stealers, now 17-0 this year, dominated in every sense of the word.

In fact, Walt Whitaker, Steeler coach, called the 1982-83 Steeler squad the best team he's ever coached at North.

"From the looks of things right now," ahead with a reversal, 4-3, but Suss scored on a reversal to take a 5-4 lead going into the final period.

Mann fell further behind in the third period, but, with 35 seconds remaining, evened the score at six.

Suss, the winning seconds of the final period, scored three quick points to win the division.

After the initial match, the Steeler squad went berserk, winning the next 10 matches.

Triad's heavyweight, Dale Rhymer, wore down North's John Kramer in the final match of the evening, for Triad's second victory.

Following the 98 pound match, Nor-

Steeler wrestling coach

Whitaker said, "I'd have to say this is the best team."

"I don't want to slight some of the past teams, certainly we've had some great ones. But this is certainly the most balanced team I've ever had here at North," Whitaker said.

Triad coach, Ed Cange, similarly assessed the Steeler mat squad.

"Granite City's success in wrestling is no secret," Cange said. "They're good, and they wrestle in some good tournaments. I thought we'd be a little more competitive though."

Similarly, the Steeler jayvee squad proved its supremacy by picking up their third shut-out of the season, defeating Triad 65-0.

For all intents and purposes, the Knights were out of the varsity match following the opening pairing.

In 98 pound competition, Granite City North's Gary Mann lost a 9-6 decision to Triad's John Suss.

Mann jumped out in front with a takedown, but by the end of the first period, Suss escaped, and scored a takedown to go ahead 3-2 by the end of the period.

In the second period, Mann went th's Colin Davis, wrestling at 105 pounds, pinned Triad's Ted Hines 1:34 into the match.

Davis, who usually wrestles 98, has lost just once this year.

At 112, North's Greg Nemeth defeated Jeff Aldridge 9-1. Nemeth, who seems to make a habit of shooting for the legs early, led Aldridge 3-1 going into the third period.

The third period belonged to Nemeth. Nemeth jumped to a 4-1 lead, then suddenly he commanded a 6-1 lead and finally he scored a near falling in the winning seconds to his score to 6-1.

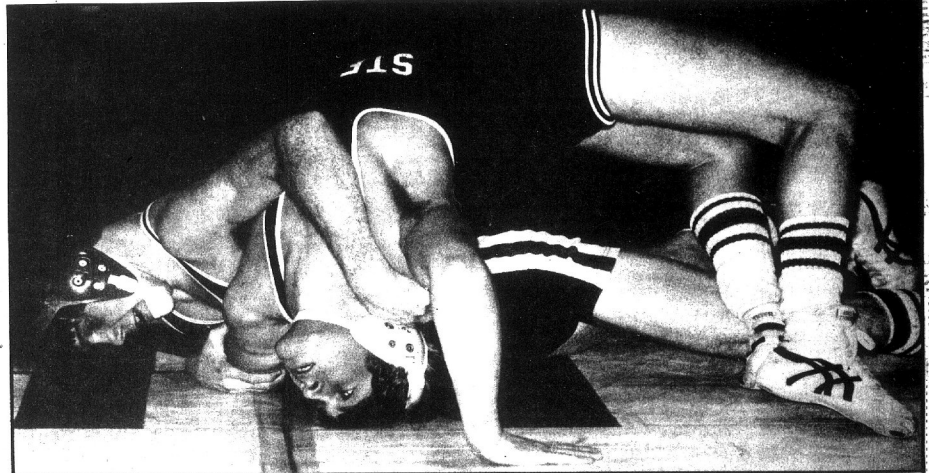

Nemeth, like Davis, has lost just once.

In 119 pound competition, North's Bruce Mckenney was leading Triad's Mike Eller 6-0 before his second period pin.

Rod Unger, one of North's state qualifiers last year and still undefeated wrestlers this year, pinned his 126-pound Triad counterpart 3:59 into the match.

Unger's opponent, Tim Singler, was undefeated going into the match.

At 132 pounds, North's Mark Whitaker led Triad's Tim Lawson 5-0 by the end of the first period.

To start the second period, Lawson escaped, then scored another quick five points to move to within three at 10-7.

In the third period, Whitaker scored a takedown to go ahead 12-7, and then with 1:36 remaining in the third period, Whitaker scored North's fourth pin of the evening.

Ken Patterson picked up North's fifth pin of the evening as he gave Triad's Jeff Clark all he could handle. Patterson, leading 8-0 at the time of the pin, decided the match at 3:08.

At 145 pounds, North's Monte Kessler won by forfeit.

North's Bruce Widel, wrestling 155 pounds, displayed the kind of come-from-behind wrestling that has made him one of North's three undefeated wrestlers this year.

Widel fell behind Triad's Chris Matz

2-0 to start the first period, but came back to pin Matz at 4:23. Widel was leading the Knight grappler 14-3 before the third-period pin.

At 167 pounds, the Stealers' Bill Zimmer decided Paul Hoenig 11-4.

Zimmer jumped out to a 4-1 first period lead, but Hoenig tied the match at four with 27 seconds remaining in the second period.

Zimmer retaliated in the few seconds remaining of the second period to score on an escape and a near fall to go ahead 8-4.

To start the third period, Zimmer scored early to go ahead 9-4, and then, with 1:15 remaining in the match, Zimmer scored a takedown to increase his lead to seven, 11-4. That score proved to be the final of the match.

North's John Morris, wrestling 185, won an impressive match over Triad's

Phil Hoenig. The two brawny seniors locked arms in what initially appeared might be a stand off. But Morris soon broke on top with a 4-1 first period lead.

Leading 6-1 with just more than a minute remaining in the second period, Morris worked into position for a pin.

Approximately 15 seconds later, the match ended. Morris, with a pin 3:02 into the match, preserved his undefeated record.

The heavyweight match was somewhat of a stand off in the early going. North's John Kramer stifled Dale Rhymer and the inverse was true.

But, with less than 15 seconds remaining in the second period, Rhymer scored a takedown to go ahead 2-0. Nine seconds later, Rhymer pinned Kramer for the Knight's second victory of the evening.

The match was North's last home dual match of the season. As is customary in such instances, those wrestlers who are senior members of the squad were recognized as were their parents.

Senior members of the Steeler squad include: Davis, Unger, Patterson, Kessler, Widel, Zimmer, Morris, Kramer, David Wienhoff and Brian Hayes.

Only two matches remain in the Stealers regular season. This Saturday, Jan. 29, the Stealers will travel to Cahokia to take on both the Comanches and Roxana.

North's final match of the year is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 3. North will face cross-town rival Granite City South before both teams begin regional activity Feb. 11 and 12.

Wrestling, basketball regional sites determined

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

With the coming of this weekend's high school wrestling and basketball action, the boys' prep winter sports season draws near an end.

While area basketball teams still have a fourth of its schedule remaining, area wrestling teams begin post-season competition in two weeks.

Prior to post-season activity though, both Granite City North and South's mat squads will face some tough matches.

The Stealers, after defeating Triad Tuesday, have just two matches remaining. This Saturday, the Stealers will be tested against perennial powerhouse Roxana and Gateway East Conference rival Cahokia in a triangular matchup in Cahokia.

The Stealers will conclude its scheduled season next Thursday, Feb. 3, against cross-town rival South.

In addition to the Steeler pairing, South will have three other matches before entering post-season action.

Tomorrow night, South will take on Cahokia followed by a matchup against Quincy, Columbia, Hickman and McCluer North on Saturday.

Following the Steeler matchup next Thursday, South will close its regional season against East Conference rival Belleville Althoff on Friday, Feb. 4.

Both the Stealers and the Warriors will have a week, then, to prepare for regional action which begins Feb. 11.

The Stealers, still undefeated will compete in the Collinsville Regional, while the Warriors will grapple in the O'Fallon Regional.

This is the first year that both North and South will compete in separate mat regionals.

Co-sponsoring the Stealers in their regional, in addition to Collinsville, are Roxana, Wood River, Triad, Edwardsville, Highland, Edwardsville and Cicero Memorial (Belleville).

Granite City South, in addition to meeting O'Fallon in its regional, will meet the three large Belleville schools (East, West and Althoff), Cahokia, both East St. Louis Senior and Lincoln and Mascoutah.

Those Granite City athletes surviving regional competition will return to Granite City the following weekend, Feb. 18-19, for the Granite City South Sectional.

The wrestling state finals will be held seven days later, Feb. 25-26, at the University of Illinois.

While Illinois grapplers are deciding who will be the best in the state at the U of I Assembly Hall, area Class A hoop teams will be concluding its regional competition. Regional competition begins Wednesday, Feb. 21, and will run through Friday, Feb. 25.

Madison soccer banquet called huge success

Madison High School soccer coach Gene Briggs called last Monday's Trojan soccer banquet a huge success. For good reason.

In addition to an estimated 120 persons who dined at the affair, 21 athletes received varsity letters, a handful of others were recognized for their special contributions to the team.

Michael Young was recognized as the team's most valuable player, while John Lewis and Derrick Newsome were named best offensive and defensive athletes respectively.

Leroy Pryor was named Mr. Goalie, while Robert Bishop was named Mr. Halfback and Morris Ricketts was named the most improved athlete on the squad.

Two other awards were presented to Maurice Silas and Brian Brown. Silas received the Senior Award, an annual award to a graduating senior and Brown received the Most Dedicated award.

Briggs presented the Super Sophomore award to Deloy Williams, while Terrence Hicks and Mark Martinez each shared the Fantastic Freshman award.

Despite Madison's 6-14 season record, the Trojan excelled. Junior halfback Young was named to Mid-South all-conference team.

Three other athletes were named to second team: Senior striker Lewis, and defensemen Newsome and Gary Campbell.

Briggs said, with his team's 6-14 start, he was hoping that the 1982 edition of the Trojan team would be the best ever. After that good start, however, the Trojans lost their eight remaining games to finish the season eight games below .500. The team's best season record is 8-11-2.

Briggs concluded by saying that he believes his team has matured from the second half season setback.

Girls' basketball regionals, both A and AA, are scheduled for March 7-10. Both Granite City North and South will compete in the North Regional, while Madison will compete in the Assumption Regional.

The Warriors will host the winners of the North Regional.

The winners of the South Regional will compete in the Class A state championship that weekend, March 11-12, at U of I.

"March Madness" continues the following weekend, March 18-19, with the Class AA state basketball championship. Like Class A competition, the site of the Class AA finals is U of I's Assembly Hall.

Before the AA state championship though, teams must battle their way through the same gauntlet as did their Class A counterparts.

Granite City South will host the AA regional which begins Monday, Feb. 28, runs through March 1.

The three schools attending the South Regional (in addition to the Warriors) are Granite City North, Triad and Collinsville.

The winner of the South Regional will compete in the Collinsville AA Sectional March 8, 9 and 11.

The Collinsville winner will earn the right to compete in the SIU Carbondale Super Sectional on Tuesday, March 15. The AA state finals are, as mentioned, March 18 and 19.

Madison — The Madison Trojan basketball team held off a fourth quarter O'Fallon Tech scoring spree Monday night to win by one, 46-45.

The victory is the Trojanettes sixth consecutive. They're now 6-1 on the season.

The Trojanettes started off strong, jumping to an 8-7 first quarter lead. In the second quarter, they enjoyed a four point, 19-15, lead, and by the end of the third stanza, Madison held a commanding 32-21 lead.

In the fourth quarter, the Trojanettes even improved upon that 11 point lead playing the ballgame. I guess we just had a good thing they did, because in the final five minutes of the game, O'Fallon Tech not only came back to life, but scored 24 points to nearly defeat the Trojanettes.

"I don't know what happened," said Madison coach Carol Cole. "We began playing the ballgame. I guess we just had a total mental breakdown," Cole explained.

Breakdown indeed. With just six seconds left in the ballgame, and Madison leading by just a point, O'Fallon broke towards its goal for what appeared to be an easy two points.

the Belleville West, Cahokia, North and Jerseyville Regionals on March 14 and 16 in the Granite City South Sectional.

The winners of the Assumption Regional will compete Bunker Hill Sectional on the same dates.

The winner of the South Sectional will compete in the Mt. Vernon Super Sectional on March 18 and 19, while the winner of the Bunker Hill Sectional will compete in the Carlisle Super Sectional on the same dates.

The state finals are slated for March 25 and 26.

Wyatt leads Trojans to victory over Goldbugs

By SAM DYMAS
of the Press-Record

The Madison Trojans once again came away with an impressive win, downing the McKinley Gold Bugs of St. Louis 89-82.

Madison started with a quick pace, scoring 21 points in the first quarter and finished fast scoring 26 points in the final stanza.

Turnovers, in the first half played a key role in keeping McKinley in the game. Madison committed nine turnovers in which the Gold Bugs turned into eventual scores. The Trojans turned the ball over 11 times during the course of the game, considerably less, however, than McKinley's 18 turnovers.

Madison coach Larry Graham substituted frequently. Graham cited Keith Wyatt as the dominant figure on the floor. Wyatt has two blocked shots, one steal and 17 rebounds.

Besides doing yeoman's labor on the boards, Wyatt contributed 28 points, which was high for the night for both teams.

Graham was also pleased with the excellent play of Terry Hamilton, who scored eight points and had nine rebounds.

Graham also stated that Madison's man-to-man defense slowed McKinley down primarily in the second half.

McKinley's loss to the Trojans dropped their record to 2-11.

McKinley's first year coach said, "Madison was one of the quickest and best teams they have played this year," McKinley, as everyone should well know, plays in the tough public high leagues in St. Louis.

Madison's next contest is against St. Mary's of St. Louis on Friday, January 28, in Madison. Varsity action begins at 8 p.m.

MADISON 21 14 21 26-82
McKINLEY 15 16 10 21-82

MADISON (62):
Hughes 28, Pryor 18, Hughes 14, Hamilton 8, Valentine 6, Young 4, Crowder 2, Banks 2, FG 38, FT 6.

McKINLEY (62):
Douglas 28, Harris 17, Crayton 10, Henderson 6, Shaw 4, Turner 2, FG 30, FT 2.

Madison holds on to slim lead, downs O'Fallon

In driving to the basket, however, O'Fallon traveled.

The Trojanettes had gotten a reprieve.

For the remaining two seconds, the Trojanettes stalled.

"That had to be the longest two seconds of my life," Cole said.

Tonight, the Trojanettes return to action as they take on Granite City South at South. Jayvee action begins at 6:30 p.m.

State police will move to Collinsville

By JUDY TAPLIN
The State Police in District 11 will begin moving into their new home on Collinsville's Main Street, Feb. 1. The move is expected to take about a week, according to David Jung, public information officer in District 11.

State officials say the Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) will most likely join the state police here after June 1.

Signing of a lease for space in the Union Savings and Loan building at 101 W. Main Street took place late last week.

(The savings and loan, since a recent merger, is now officially a branch office of Madison County Federal Savings & Loan of Granite City.)

Among the people who are being given credit for the move to Collinsville are State Sen. Frank Watson, L. E. Morris and Roland Bauer of Morris Agency, Collinsville and Paul Sodko and other officials at Madison County Federal Savings & Loan.

Official notice of the move came to District 11 headquarters from Springfield, Friday afternoon by teletype.

"I think everybody is going to be relieved just to know the decision has been made and where we're going," Jung said. "There has been suspense."

District 11 covers five counties: Madison, St. Clair, Clinton, Monroe and Bond.

WASHINGTON U. OFFERS CAREER DAY
College students interested in a career in social work are being invited to attend Career Day at the George Warren Brown School of Social Work at Washington University from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 2.

A panel of social work professionals and educators will discuss career information. A slide presentation on the George Warren Brown School of Social Work will be followed by an informal question and answer period. Individuals interested in attending Career Day may call 1-314-889-6676.

EXPERT APPRAISING
MORRIS REALTY CO.

About 45 employees work at the headquarters on a regular basis, including about 30 on the day shift, Jung said.

There are 82 sworn officers in District 11, including 70 who work on the road.

Jung said he was personally pleased with the decision. "From what I've seen, it is a good building that will meet our needs."

The search for a new District 11 headquarters site was mandated by mine subsidence damage at the current headquarters building in Maryville. An engineering report recommended that the site there be abandoned.

A state official acknowledges that the search became something of a political quagmire. Numerous communities came up with proposed sites in their own confines.

Bethalto and Collinsville ended up as the main contenders.

Although the agreement, a three-year lease with an option for two more years, is for the State Police only, the contract also provides for additional space in the building for the DCI.

The state has until March 1 to decide whether or not the DCI will occupy the building.

A state official said there is an extremely good chance that the DCI, now located in the Southern Illinois Bank building in Fairview Heights, will follow the State Police to Collinsville.

If the savings and loan vacates the quarters, it will not leave Collinsville, Paul Sodko, the firm's president, has emphasized.

As it turned out, the selection of Collinsville as the State Police site represents a sacrifice on the part of Madison County Federal Savings & Loan, Sodko acknowledged.

The DCI was not involved when the state first began its search. When the DCI became a factor, with more room then needed, the savings and loan then had the choice of removing the building from contention or facing the prospect of needing new quarters itself.

Sodko said the latter course was taken for the good of Collinsville. He said he doubts if the DCI will move in before mid-summer.

Pesticide certification

Two meetings will be held at the University of Illinois Extension office in Edwardsville on Thursday, Feb. 3, for farmers needing to renew their private pesticide certification license. One meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. and a repeat meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

A large number of Madison County farmers obtained their private pesticide certification licenses five years ago. They are being urged to check the expiration date on their license because many of these licenses expired this year.

A farmer needs a private pesticide license to purchase agricultural chemicals listed for restricted use. For many farmers, there will be a greater need to have the license over the next five years because more chemicals are being added to the restricted use list each year.

Each farmer who has a private pesticide license that expires in 1983 or 1984 is being asked to attend one of the pesticide programs this year. Even if the present license expires at a later date, it can be extended five years beyond the expiration date.

Speakers will be Ron Cornwall, Madison County extension adviser, and Ken Metz, assistant extension adviser.
